Sweeping Changes Made In County Assessments

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Heavier Burden Put on Real Estate

By CLARKE THOMAS
Journal Capitol Reporter

The State Board of Equalization Wednesday announced sweeping adjustments of county-by-county assessments, eluminating this year's great equalization effort.

Not a county remained untouched in what the board called action to comply "with both the spirit and letter of the law."

The blanket adjustments announced by the state board will apply to every piece of a particular type of property in any given county.

* * *

THE ACTION throws a heavier burden on real estate—expected because this category had carried a lighter proportion of the tax load than it should have in the past.

But the State Board, in a somewhat unexpected move, tried to make up for this in part by boosting assessments of business inventories and household goods and equipment in a majority of the counties.

It is generally conceded that full returns are not made in these categories. The household goods category includes furniture, cameras, guns, fur coats, watches, and other personal items — but not refrigerators, stoves, television sets, freezers, radios, record players, and washing machines.

* * *

BY ADJUSTING the returns made by county assessors the State Board increased the state's total assessed valuation by $473,432,970.

The new total assessed valuation—against which tax levies will apply—is $3,370,919,463.

Before applying the new 50 per cent law, this means the state's total actual valuation now is $6,741,838,926.

The figure last year was $3,087,816,140.

Gov. Robert Crosby said that adjustments were "conservative."

The fact that they ranged as high as 438 per cent for town lots in Holt County illustrated the amazing inequalities in assessments in past years.

But the increase in valuations was expected to bring a corresponding decrease in tax levies. For instance, on the state level, the total state levy dropped 1.23 mills to this year's 5.75 mills ($5.75 in taxes on each $1,000 worth of property).

* * *

HERE'S WHAT the State Board did to equalize between counties and classes of property for 1953:

1. Raised farm land and improvements valuations in 48 counties, lowered them in 11, leaving 34 counties unchanged.

The increases ranged up to 207 per cent in Holt and 135 per cent in Grant counties. The adjustments brought in $157,974,425 more in assessed valuations.

2. Increased valuations of town real estate in 70 counties, cut them in 10 counties, and left them alone in 13 counties. Among the heaviest hit was Crosby's home county of Lincoln (North Platte) with a 207 per cent boost. The state result is $260,102,890 more in assessed valuations.

3. Jacked up business inventories in all but 10 counties, with increases ranging from 10 to 40 per cent. This move brought in $45,851,785 more.

4. Hiked assesments on household goods and personal equipment in all but seven counties. The boasts were either 50 per cent or 100 per cent. The increase by this action amounted to $7,622,200.

* * *

EVERY COUNTY from the smallest up to Douglas County got some kind of adjustment. Town real estate owners in Omaha and other Douglas County towns got a 48 per cent boost, considerably more than the 19 per cent hike in Lancaster County on that class of property.

Some counties which overshot the mark in their effort to equalize this year got relief by downward adjustments. For town real estate these include Adams (Hastings), Cass, Dakota, Deuel, Dodge (Fremont), Hamilton (Aurora), Hooker, Keya Paha, Logan, and Saline (Wilber and Crete).

* * *

IN A STATEMENT accompanying the release of figures, the State Board said: "We have complied with both the letter and the spirit of the law to the extent that available information has made it possible, and we have been diligent in obtaining information."

Much of this information was gained from a week of hearings in which county officials explained what they had done about assessments this year.

ALSO, THE board leaned heavily on continuing studies by the state tax commissioner's office.

Gov. Crosby, chairman of the board, said he thought the job of equalization had been done so thoroughly and conscientiously that he expected relatively few law suits to result.

He said: "If we hadn't done anything, there would have been a whole lot more suits."

The state board's statement said: "One result of conscientious equalization cannot be avoided this year: A substantial part of the property tax burden will be shifted to real estate, particularly town real estate. We make no apology for this. The result is required by the state constitution and our duty has been made abundantly clear by Supreme Court decision."

* * *

CROSBY explained how the board had done its work in the six days it met behind closed doors.

He said the board relied heavily on the state tax commissioner's estimates of property values in the various counties. These have been compiled from reports of sales of property year by year.

Crosby said that some allowance was made for a slight decline in land values. Particularly was this true in some western counties where the drop in cattle prices has had its effect on land values. But the governor said this allowance should not be over-emphasized.

* * *

IN CONSIDERING agricultural land values over the state the board used a soil map, Crosby said.

On the increases in assessments of household goods, Crosby said it had been pretty much by rule of thumb.

The board's statement said the action was necessary because in some counties "the average schedule for non-exempt household goods and personal equipment is as high as $127.50; and others as low as $11.68."

★ ★ ★ ★ Levies Here Estimated

Here is a "guesstimate" of probable mill levies for 1953 taxes for Lincoln taxpayers. Only the state levy is definitely set. The 1952 levies are listed for comparison purposes.

	1953	1952
State	5.75	6.92
Institutions	1.26	1.67
School	25.3	27.88
County	4.20	4.50
City	12.70	12.30
Sanitary Dist.	2.00	2.00
Total	51.21	55.33

Note: The figures above indicate how many dollars worth of taxes will be paid on each $1,000 worth of assessed property. Property is assessed this year at half its "actual" value.

Mobs Seek Food Despite Arrests

Loaded Trucks, Planes Get to Berlin From West

BERLIN (AP)—Communist police arrested scores of East Germans who accepted gifts of Western food but they failed to check the hungry throngs surging through the iron curtain. The biggest crowds yet jammed West Berlin's food relief centers on the third day of the big. American-financed relief program which has put the spotlight on food shortages in the restive Soviet occupation zone.

The Communists also harassed but did not halt—except temporarily—the movement of food to West Berlin by truck. Other food arrived by plane.

* * *

OFFICIALS ESTIMATED 150,000 food packages would be given away in one day, in addition to the 250,000 already handed out in the first two days.

Communist police began a campaign of arrests and threats to sabotage the program by scaring the East Germans away.

They arrested scores who returned to East Berlin laden with food. Thirty arrests were reported at one border crossing point alone.

* * *

THE FIRST truckload of American food crossed the Soviet zone and finally reached West Berlin after Communist border guards delayed it at both ends of the isolated city's highway link to the West.

The truck, bringing 20 tons of food from the U.S. freighter American Inventor, entered the American sector of West Berlin 20 minutes after German truck drivers had reported Communist police were unloading it and apparently confiscating its contents.

The food was the first delivery of a $15 million stock being sent by the U.S. to replenish West Berlin's emergency food stocks now being depleted by free distributions to the hungry East Germans.

* * *

IN WEST BERLIN, meanwhile, the biggest crowds yet thronged across the iron curtain border for the third day of the distribution of free food parcels. They came despite an implied Communist threat that those getting the food faced arrest as spies.

The Soviet zone radio began broadcasting hourly names and addresses of Eastern German food recipients. It charged they were being recruited as future agents by western espionage experts.

The intent of the radio name-calling was clear—to warn East Germans they risk arrest as Western agents if they persist in coming to the West for aid.

"It is a revolt against Communism as big and as startling as the June 17 riots," one West Berlin official said.

* * *

FROM THE OTHER side of the iron curtain, meanwhile, reports filtered through of a vast widening in the purge of the rebellion-beset Communist party.

The West Berlin socialist newspaper, Telegraf, reported that 200 special commissions had been set up to investigate the conduct of all party members during the June rebellion.

Senator Taft Reported 'Improved'

NEW YORK (AP)—Nurses maintained a round-the-clock vigil at the bedside of weakening Sen. Robert A. Taft Wednesday and reported he was "resting a little more comfortably."

Wednesday morning's bulletin read:

"Sen. Taft had a more restful night. This morning he requested breakfast and ate it with relish. He is having no pain and his condition is somewhat improved."

The invalid wife of the 62-year-old Ohio Republican flew here from Washington to visit him. Earlier, doctors at New York Hospital reported the senator's condition had "deteriorated somewhat" and was continuing "unsatisfactory."

* * *

LATER, TWO of Taft's sons, Lloyd and Robert Jr., were reported to have visited the hospital. His other son, William Howard Taft, ambassador to Ireland, was reported by friends in Washington to be en route to New York.

Aside from their official bulletins hospital authorities were reluctant to discuss Taft's illness or the course of treatment he has received for what originally was described as a "serious hip ailment."

If his illness should force him out of the Senate permanently, it could mean that the Democrats, although reported reluctant to do so at present, would wind up in control of the Senate. Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio is a Democrat and would be considered likely to name a Democrat to fill the spot. This would shift a GOP majority of one to a Democratic majority of one.

McKelvies Sell Ranch To Neighbors

Sam R. and Martha McKelvie have announced the sale of their 4,928-acre By The Way Ranch near Valentine to their nearby neighbors, Wilbur Drybread and Ralph A. Baker.

Drybread purchased 4,467 acres of the nationally-known ranch and Baker, 461 acres. The approximate total price was $200,000, or nearly $40 an acre.

The house that has been the home of the ex-Governor since he and Mrs. McKelvie began building their famous Hereford herd 22 years ago will continue to be their home during their lifetime.

The McKelvie ranch was to have been given to the University of Nebraska for research and experiment station purposes, but McKelvie withdrew his offer when he learned that the Board of Regents allegedly had plans to "shelve" it.

The McKelvies dispersed the Hereford herd at auction July 2 of this year.

Drybread is a well known Hereford stock man.

The Bakers plan to use their area as a new home site.

British Still Want Big 4 Conference

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's top deputies have told Parliament Britain still wants high level 4-power talks with Russia. They denied this conflicts with administration views in Washington.

Addressing the House of Commons on behalf of the ailing Churchill, Acting Prime Minister Richard A. Butler said "We have achieved unity of aim and policy on behalf of the three Western governments supported by the NATO governments and Western Germany."

He said Britain, France and the United States had invited the Soviet government to a foreign ministers' conference on German unity and an Austrian treaty and a reply is being awaited.

In Washington, the White House said there have been no formal requests from the British or Russians for a top level conference.

Eisenhower in past news conferences has expressed a willingness to go half way in meeting the Soviet chief of state if he felt the American people wanted it and something could be accomplished.

In the House of Lords, Lord Salisbury said he "did indeed press for four-power talks with Russia" during the recent Western foreign ministers' talks in Washington.

Lord Salisbury, who is filling in for the ailing Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, denied there was any conflict within the British government over Churchill's May 11 proposal for high level talks with Russia.

U.S.-British Storm Brews Over China

WASHINGTON (AP)—The question of admitting Red China to the United Nations appeared to be blowing up a new storm in United States-British relations.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told a news conference Tuesday he is flatly opposed to letting Red China into the U.N. as a price for Korean unity. He went on to say he thinks the United States could veto Communist China's admittance if it wanted to, although he didn't think it would be necessary.

His views appeared in direct conflict with those of Selwyn Lloyd, British minister of state for foreign affairs, who promised Parliament Monday that Britain will press for discussions on Red China admission.

* * *

U.S. OFFICIALS said that so far these discussions have not begun. However, they expect them to start soon so that Britain and the United States can try to find a common policy before the special U.N. General Assembly session convenes Aug. 17.

The general feeling among U.S. experts is that the United States will have to be willing to make some concessions to Red China if it expects to get Korean unifications. The Reds have not said what they want but it is believed certain they will not agree to unification short of winning a U.N. seat.

Rain, Cooler Readings Are Predicted

Lincoln may be cooled by thundershowers Wednesday night and Thursday, according to the Weather Bureau.

Scattered thundershowers are also predicted over the state with cooler temperatures expected east and south-central.

Nebraskans in the Panhandle area got a breather from the hot weather Tuesday when showers and a cool air front lowered temperatures.

The mercury shot up to 102 at North Platte Tuesday for the state high. In contrast, Valentine had the state low of 60.

Temperatures of 100 were reported Tuesday in Grand Island, Imperial, Lexington and Norfolk.

The bureau recorded 98 in Lincoln and the Airport recorded 100.

Lincoln Base Bill Sent to Ike

Authorization of $8,825,000 for the Lincoln Air Force Base was virtually assured when the House completed Congressional action on a bill authorizing $490,146,930 for Army, Navy and Air Force construction.

Also included in the bill is $6,730,000 for Offutt Field at Omaha.

The House substituted a Senate-approved measure for its own and then sent it to the White House for President Eisenhower's expected signature.

The bill includes $133,671,000 for Army, $87,011,130 for the Navy, $268,060,000 for the Air Force, and $1,404,800 for Alaska communications.

Money for Defense Passed by Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress completed action on the biggest money bill of the session Wednesday by approving a compromise $34,371,541,000 defense measure. The House agreed quickly to the compromise measure early in the day but Sen. Maybank (D-SC) delayed Senate approval by a protest against a compromise regarding award of defense contracts to unemployment areas.

A promise of acting Majority Leader Knowland (R-Calif) that he would take the matter of defense contract awards up "personally with the President" finally quieted the threat.

* * *

THE BILL'S total is split this way: Army, $12,995,406,000; Navy, $9,438,310,000; Air Force, $11,168,000000; Miscellaneous, $769,825,000.

The figure was a compromise reached by a Senate-House conference committee which ironed out some 50 differences in versions of the bill passed earlier by the two branches.

The group accomplished the rare congressional feat of agreeing to a total that was about 62½ million dollars below that originally voted by the House and nearly 140 millions less than voted by the Senate. The usual practice is to arrive at a figure between the two.

Three of the money bills have not yet passed the Senate; the remaining ones are in the process of being compromised. Still to pass the Senate are appropriations for foreign aid, slated for action Wednesday, for Congress itself, and for a number of miscellaneous agencies including the Voice of America and Civil Defense.

The compromise on the defense money bill did not involve the prolonged battle over a slash in new funds for the Air Force, made by Secretary of Defense Wilson. The cutback had been okayed by both the House and Senate previously.

Allies to Investigate Charges of Violation

None Believed Serious; Withdrawal Continuing

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—Communists on the new Military Armistice Commission charged Wednesday in their first post-truce complaint that the United Nations violated the ceasefire agreement eight times. The Reds told chief U.N. Commissioner Maj. Gen. Blackshear Bryan at an 82-minute session that Allied artillery fired four times after the 10 p.m. Monday deadline, a machine gun fired once and aircraft flew over the demarcation line on three occasions.

"They were allegations of a broad and general nature," Bryan said. "None of them was serious."

* * *

BRYAN SAID, however, he would order an investigation and asked the Communists for specific details on the unsubstantiated truce violations.

Bryan also disclosed he had proposed starting "Operation Big Switch," the exchange of almost 87,000 Allied and Communist war prisoners, next Monday but that Lt. Gen. Lee Sang Cho, senior Red member of the Armistice Commission, said the Communists were unable to complete their preparations before Aug. 5.

Under an agreement, the U.N. will exchange 74,000 Communist prisoners for 12,763 Allied captives, including 3,313 Americans, over a one-month period.

The prisoner of War Command at Seoul said the first batch of enemy prisoners have started north.

A spokesman said 3,600 North Koreans and 1,200 Chinese made up the group. They left Koje-Do, Islands off the South Korean coast where the riots occurred, by LST.

Two U.S. Air Force planes brought Swedish and seven Swiss members of the neutral Truce Supervisory Commission to Korea Wednesday. The delegates hope to meet with the Communist-nominated groups from Poland and Czechoslovakia here Thursday.

* * *

THE WITHDRAWAL of two mighty armies from the Korean demilitarized zone continued smoothly as the Thursday night deadline approached.

Enemies a few days ago, Allied and Communist troops worked within shouting distance of each other, salvaging material and wrecking fortifications that took months, sometimes years, to build.

Although Allied troops were warned by the 8th Army against fraternization with the Reds, there were reports of friendly contacts all along the war-shattered front.

* * *

BODIES OF SIX Americans and 100 Chinese were recovered at a western front outpost where one of the last battles of the war was fought.

The Communists did not overlook the propaganda opportunity. On the eastern front, Red loudspeaker broadcasts assailed the proposed defense pact by the United States and South Korea as an effort to extend the war.

Pre-truce fears that the South Korean troops would not pull back from the demilitarized zone because of President Rhee's opposition proved groundless as the withdrawal began.

MR. TAYLOR

F. J. Taylor, Ex-University Regent, Dies

ST. PAUL (AP)—F. J. Taylor, 87, retired lawyer and former president of the University of Nebraska Board of Regents, died Wednesday at his home here after a long illness.

Born in Illinois in 1866, Mr. Taylor was brought to Nebraska by his parents in 1879. They farmed near Ashton, which town they named.

Mr. Taylor received his law degree from the University of Michigan in 1891 after studying in the offices of Darnell and Kendall in St. Paul and joined the same firm for his first practice.

During later years, he had his own law office, owned farm interests, was president of the Citizens National Bank, was city attorney for four years and Howard County attorney for 12 years.

He was local attorney for the Burlington Railroad for 20 years, as well as legal representative of a number of insurance companies.

Active in public affairs, state, county and local, he was Democratic candidate for Congress in 1914, past chairman of the Howard County Central Committee, and a delegate to seven national conventions.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. Wayne Stoehr of Omaha.

New Lancaster Valuations to Change Payments, Especially in Towns

How the State Board of Equalization's valuation boost is going to affect individual Lancaster County taxpayers will depend on who the taxpayer is.

Generally:

Farmers' taxes may go down slightly.

Businessmen's taxes will go up considerably.

* * *

TOWN PROPERTY owners' will stay about the same or increase slightly.

While the tax levies of the government subdivisions will remain about the same or decrease, the raise in valuation means the actual dollar income will be about the same—and the taxpayers will wind up merely paying less per dollar on more dollars.

The State Board of Equalization made the following findings for Lancaster County:

Farm property—valuation to stay the same, at $28,800,450.

Town property—raised 19 per cent, from $91,168,805 to $108,490,875.

* * *

BUSINESS PROPERTY — increased 40 per cent, from $10,529,600 to $14,741,440.

Household goods and personal equipment—upped 50 per cent, from $1,393,665 to $2,090,495.

Total valuation added to Lancaster County assessments by the state board's action is $22,230,740.

Almost everyone here will be hit by the state board's finding, and the smallest item may have the biggest reaction.

* * *

RAISING household goods and personal equipment (not including household equipment such as refrigerators, which were assessed according to a set depreciation schedule) only means an additional valuation of $696,830—but many individuals filed what they considered an honest return on these items, and they may consider another 50 per cent an unfair addition, county officials reasoned.

Biggest valuation difference, however, is that on town real estate—and this 19 per cent hike is one which will affect some 40,000-odd property owners, according to Co. Assessor Arthur Davis' figures.

* * *

BUSINESSMEN will be hit twice, once by the 19 per cent increase in real estate assessments and again by the 40 per cent raise in business personal property valuations.

With government subdivision levies not down enough to take the edge off their taxes, business men will undoubtedly be the ones to feel the increase most.

* * *

ONLY country property owners may come out ahead of last year—and this will be on an individual, not a general basis, probably depending on what kind of a levy is made by individual school districts in which the farmer lives.

While state and county levies will be down over last year because of the increased valuation, country school districts generally will have no increased assessments to work with and so may have to raise a higher levy this year if their budgets have gone up.

* * *

IN LINCOLN, School District No. 1 is asking more money than last year, but the added town and business valuations should mean a levy not much different from the 27.88 taxed for 1952-53.

Capsule reviews of the five government subdivision budgets which all Lincolnites have to pay show.

State, down from 6.98 mills in 1952-53 to 5.75—levy now set.

1952-53 to 5.75—levy now set. The institutional levy of an estimated 1.26 mills will be about four mills under last year's 1.67.

County, probably down from last year's 4.50 mills to about 4 2 or less, depending on how much the county commissioners cut from the requested budget.

City, probably about half-a-mill over last year's 12 3, since the state board's raise in town real estate valuations does not make any difference to the city, which assesses its own real estate separate from the county.

Sanitary District, probably down from the regular levy of two mills since the district may not increase their budget more than five per cent of last year's budget, except by permission of the county commissioners who have already asked the district to lower its levy.

School District No. 1—probably the same or lower than last year, with an estimate of 25.3 made on incomplete valuation computations.

PATROL TESTS APPLICANTS—Fifty-three applicants for positions with the Nebraska Safety Patrol took written examinations in the Senate chamber of the Statehouse. After the exams were graded, the men who passed were scheduled to have interviews and be screened by Patrol and Highway Department officials. 'Seaton Has No Senate Plans Now'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Sen. Fred Seaton, Hastings publisher, has let Sen. Griswold (R-Neb) know that he has no present plans to run for the U.S. Senate.

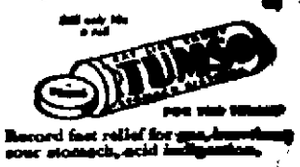

Seaton has been here several days. On a visit to the capitol, he had lunch with Griswold. One of the items touched on in their conversation was a report that Seaton might run against Griswold next year.

Seaton told a reporter that he has said several times he has no plans to run for the Senate. He commented that he had never said he would seek that office.

Griswold told a reporter that while Seaton made no flat statement in their conversation he got the inference that Seaton had no present intentions of running.

Seaton was named to succeed the late Sen. Wherry (R-Neb) in 1951. He did not seek Wherry's short term and Griswold was chosen.

The county's allotment includes no new farm acreages (farms which have not raised wheat in three years).

The allotment is the 15th largest among the state's 93 counties

Religion Like Farming, Adventist Says

Religion was likened to farming in an address to the 75th annual convention of the Nebraska Seventh-Day Adventist Church on the Union College campus Wednesday.

Speaking on the topic, "The Gospel According to the Farm," Carl Sundin, associate secretary of the general conference medical department said, "There's a lot of good religion in farming."

Sundin, who spent his youth on a farm, said "A good spiritual farmer is employed both in sowing the seed of God's work and in reaping the harvest of souls for His kingdom."

Earlier Wednesday G. R. Fattic, youth leader of the central union conference of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, addressed the convention on "The Life Story of Seventh-Day Adventist Youth."

Mrs Vernon Dunn, Union College dietitian, and Dr. R T. Smith, Lincoln physician, Wednesday afternoon lectured on food for children.

The Rev. L. E. Froom, general field secretary of the church, was to address the assembly on "Foundations of Our Faith" Wednesday evening

Tuesday the conference delegates heard W A. Scharffenberg, executive secretary of the International Temperance Society of the church, denounce the State Department for "giving too many cocktail parties"

Over and Under

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — Air Force Capt. W. G. Siever of the Bronx, N. Y., took off in a jet fighter on an "air alert mission" and ended up in a submarine.

His engine failed and he parachuted into the waters of Long Island Sound. He was rescued unhurt by a submarine on a training mission out of the Naval base here.

Californian to Face Auto Theft Charge

Special to The Journal

HASTINGS—Adams Co. Atty. Richard E. Hunter was preparing a complaint charging auto theft against a 38-year-old Californian who has admitted taking the car of W. Howard Brown of Hastings.

The car was found wrecked near Dorchester Wednesday morning and the man was picked up shortly afterwards walking on the railroad track nearby.

Safety Patrol Capt Harold Smith said the man, being held in the Friend jail, admitted the theft.

School Board Files Record Tax Budget

The Lincoln Board of Education has filed its $3,945,478 58 tax budget with the County Commissioners and Clerk J. B. Morgan.

The tax outlay, part of a total of $4,979,393.25 planned 1953-54 expenditures, is $151,842 94 more than was raised by taxation last year. The record-breaking budget, $594,820.55 above last years, was approved by the School Board on June 29.

The 1953 levy has not yet been determined If school district valuations are increased, as has been reported, the levy is expected to be about equal to or below last year's levy of 27.88 mills.

Legal Cloud Hangs Over Auditorium

Judge to Rule on Effort To Push 15th, M Building

The future of Lincoln's city auditorium remained obscure after a hearing Tuesday of the city's reasons why it should not proceed immediately with construction at 15th and M, and of a citizens group's reasons why the city should.

The situation may be clarified when Lancaster District Judge John L. Polk, whose court was the site of a four and one-half hour hearing on the issue, hands down his decision.

Polk had ordered the hearing at the request of George Healey, attorney for Myron Noble and others, who had obtained the Aug. 17, 1950, State Supreme Court mandate ordering the city then to proceed immediately with auditorium construction at 15th and M.

* * *

CHARGES AND COUNTER-charges drifted through the courtroom throughout the morning and afternoon session, topped off by a declaration by C. J. Campbell, as a friend of the court, that the Supreme Court mandate was unconstitutional.

Campbell contended the mandate, on which the plaintiffs based their assertions, was not made within the power of the Supreme Court in the case. He said since the high court was only to consider a demurrer sustained earlier by Judge Polk in 1950, it had no power to do anything beyond sustaining or overruling the demurrer. He claimed the city was denied due process of law.

* * *

IN SHOWING cause why the city should not proceed immediately with construction at 15th and M, City Atty. John H. Comstock cited three reasons:

1. No lower court judgment on the Supreme Court mandate was entered for almost three years.

2. With the petitions submitted to the Council requesting a vote to repeal all present auditorium provisions, "it would be the duty of the City Council" to submit the question to a vote. If the Council failed to do so, he said, it would be subject to legal action forcing the question to a vote.

3. "All of the action of the City Council has been toward construction of the building at the site purchased therefore . . . These very plaintiffs have not been dissatisfied with the action of the City Council toward building at this location." But, he charged, since the petitions for a vote were to be filed, "they (plintiffs) thought they could force" immediate construction without consideration of the petitions.

Atty. H. B. Muffly, representing "a group of taxpayers" who are members of the Citizens Auditorium Site Committee, as intervenors in the case, claimed the Supreme Court judgment "does not direct this court or give this court any authority" to grant an injunction.

* * *

QUESTIONING the legality of a new auditorium election, Healey declared: "It is not within the power of the city" to change the auditorium location after the original location has been so far developed as the one at 15th and M has.

Healey also said return of present auditorium property to a trust fund or the general city fund would not be within the provisions of the law on bond issues.

Judge Polk's decision, which he said he will make "as soon as possible," will be probably either a dismissal of the action or an injunction ordering the city to build. Healey indicated during the hearing that should Polk dismiss the action, his ruling would be appealed for another Supreme Court decision.

Armory Plans Being Revised

Specifications and invitations for bids for the proposed Grand Island and Hastings National Guard armories are being revised to comply with Army practice before a date is set for letting the contract.

Brig. Gen. Guy Henninger said they would be sent back to Washington for a final check.

Col. H. H. Turner of state guard headquarters spent last week in Washington in conference with pentagon officials.

Gen. Henninger said the Grand Island project is a "guinea pig" in that it is the first armory to be built jointly by the four agencies: The National Guard, through which the state's contribution is channeled; and the Army, the National Guard Bureau and the Reserve, federal.

The state will furnish about 35 per cent of the total cost of the Grand Island project.

Editorial Comment and Opinion

Polite Toughness the Keynote

The Reds won't come around unless you make it hurt if they refuse.

Softness doesn't pay; firm polite toughness does.

These admirably realistic statements purport to sum up the attitude the U. S. state department will take at the political conference scheduled for August in Korea. It mirrors a bold new spirit very welcome to the American people after years of frustrating adjustment and a costly though undeclared war, now in recess.

It isn't that American diplomats plan to offer inducements outright for the unification of Korea, either to North Korea or to Red China. This would give a wrong slant altogether, besides being unsafe until it is certain that China doesn't have trouble up her sleeve for some other Asian area. Instead, writes a Wall Street Journal man in Washington, they will tell the Communists what will happen if they don't agree to the restoration of Korea—a Korea whose government would be chosen in free democratic elections.

The implied propositions listed, while not coinciding precisely at every point with those Secretary Dulles disclosed at a news conference Tuesday, gave every appearance of having been "leaked" by the customary "sources close to the administration." Where Mr. Dulles was content to say he would hold out indefinitely against admitting Red China to the United Nations, the "source" allowed himself some leeway, as is shown in the first of these three principal implications:

"We will resist Red China's entry into U.N. with all our might while Korea remains divided. But if the Chinese agree to unification, and otherwise mind their P's and Q's, it might be pretty hard to keep them out.

"We will keep large armies in South Korea, regardless of the truce. We will go on training and building up South Korean armies. If the Communists want to get U. S. and U. N. forces to go home, they will have to agree to Korea's aspirations.

"We will continue our economic embargo of Red China, regardless of the truce, thus making it very hard for Mao's country to get anywhere with her urgent five-year industrialization plan. Whenever the Chinese are ready to agree to a unified Korea, we will start thinking about lifting the embargo."

That so much depends on Red China is regrettable. But there would be no point to mending Korea's fences unless we were certain that China wouldn't then move in on the peninsula. If the Chinese leaders are as practical as they are believed to be, and one-tenth as far-seeing, they ought to be impressed. Whatever it was that the Kremlin promised them, their people have had nothing yet but the privilege of dying by the million or, those who survived, facing famine at home. If the diplomats are sufficiently diplomatic as to give the Chinese a chance to save face, there is no telling what can be accomplished.

Bombs as a Barometer

While industry and the market place have been wooing small investors with rather more success than usual this year, one of their selling points now threatens to turn and bite them. And while it usually attracts only very modest investors, the reason for its recent showing of strength is worth noting. This is the U. S. savings bond, familiarly known as the defense bond, and earlier as the war bond and Liberty bond. (Thousands now living can still recall the bond rallies of 1918 and thereabouts).

This handy little package has had hard sledding of late years, due to dat old debbil inflation. The $100 one gets for a bond that cost $75 a decade ago hasn't been any bargain, prices being what they are. And so the customers have been cashing them much faster than new investors have bought them—until January. Ever since, purchases have exceeded surrenders. And while this can be attributed partly to a small hike in the proceeds through the process of holding the bond after it comes due, it is also seen as a tribute to an administration pledged to stability instead of to further inflation. The public realization that bonds are again a good investment is in itself a hedge, since the scramble to swap money for goods is a large factor in inducing inflation.

There is still much more room for the investing public in the areas represented by the stock market. Savings bonds are deliberately tailored to the small investor's wallet, and their returning strength is a good sign all around.

Gone, a Genuine Yankee

The death of Senator Tobey removed from the American scene a figure not merely picturesque to the point of being photogenic, but independent, unpredictable and individual far beyond the range of most public men. It was the Kefauver crime hearings that brought him into the public eye and ear and spread his renown across the country. His wit and keenness delighted TV spectators, as did his insistence on knowing all about the crimes and criminals involved.

It was all part of the independence that sometimes puzzled his constituents but moved them to send him back to the Senate time after time. He was never a backslapper or a frequenter of the smoke-filled rooms where deals are made. Nobody ever knew how his mind worked, but work it did, and never grew stale for lack of vigorous exercise. Sen. Tobey was a Bull Mooser (so long ago did his political career begin) and a sharp critic of the New Deal and its facility in pouring out money. An isolationist up to 1941, he shed that philosophy when Pearl Harbor was attacked, and became a strong supporter of the international policies entailed by the war and the peace. When New Hampshire's regular Republicans tried to put him out of business in 1950, he fought and won a hard battle. At the age of 73 he was still a fighter.

Lessons Learned in Korea

WASHINGTON — When President Truman announced our stand with the United Nations in Korea against the North Korean Communist aggressor, he was cheered to the rafters by Congress. Our people applauded, too. When a truce finally was signed, no cheers arose, no hats were thrown in air—in congress or anywhere else. You could almost hear a pin drop.

Stokes

In between, there were three years and a month. In between, there was blood, 140,000 American casualties including over 22,000 dead. In between there was grueling war of a most frustrating sort, and a new kind for the United States, that is, in objective and aim. It was a confusing war, with nothing quite certain, and no final victory in the orthodox manner. Nothing to stir a celebration. We were back where we started

So what? You hear this question all around.

The asking of the question and the lack of any soaring elation with the end of this strange war—all that bespeaks a new experience for us and, in a way, a sense of maturity. We have learned that defending freedom is a grim business, requiring patience, and a long business that may go on and on, even with more Koreas, so that it is not possible just to write "finis" on what may be just an episode. We have learned that we cannot pick the terrain where freedom is to be defended and that, in the world today, it can be defended only by collective action of all nations imbued with the instinct of freedom, and that results are not likely to be the flaming, certain victory of the dramatic type, but, a good deal of the time, perhaps most of the time, just holding the line.

That was what happened in Korea, and in that respect it was a very substantial victory—that is, if we recognize that and hold to it in the future.

* * *

Accepted Challenge

It is necessary again, if repetitious, to recall a few simple elemental facts — so that we may go on from here in confidence.

To recall that out of the Second World War there came a world organization designed to prevent future wars. That organization, the United Nations, created at San Francisco, finally got its first test of its collective security principle, which is its essence, when an aggressor, North Korea, attacked a ward of the U. N., South Korea.

At our prompting, the U. N. accepted the challenge, met the issue where the aggressor struck and, through all the vicissitudes of a war up and down the peninsula, has held the line. Throughout we recognized that this aggression was Russian-inspired. When Russia's North Korean satellite could not stand up under the attack of the U. N. armies, then Red China entered the war as it rolled toward her border, and threw back the U. N. forces. But the U. N. line was stabilized on the line between North and South Korea, where the war ended, as it began.

Had the U. N. not accepted the challenge, it would have wilted away and died, even as did the League of Nations. Communism would have swarmed over Japan and by now, perhaps, would have spread its control over other free areas in the Pacific. That advance was checked. Furthermore, our bold decision to stand at Korea and our enlistment of the U. N. inspired confidence in us all over the world, including the free nations of Western Europe, and certainly hastened steps by Western Europe to protect herself.

* * *

Built Up Defenses

While keeping Red China pinned down in Korea and thus preventing concentrated conquests in other directions, particularly Indo-China, we also bought time to build up our own defenses so that now we are stronger than ever, in ourselves, and through the strength of our allies which we have bolstered, both by example and by actual aid.

Again, with the truce, we hear the complaint that we have not come off with an "American" type victory: that we should have staged an all-out offensive and swept the enemy out of Korea. The name of Gen. Douglas MacArthur is revived as the symbol of what is meant, even though the general was not able to pull that off when he attempted it. Again it is being said also that we were held back by our allies.

Our allies feared risking a war with all Asia that might explode into a Third World War and so, as a matter of fact, did top officials here, including the military. Significant it is that some who would broaden the war, requiring all sorts of American resources and many men, include members of Congress who consistently have voted against adequate defense appropriations. Nor do they seem to realize that, in collective security, decisions cannot be individual, but must represent the consensus of all; for, once the die is cast, all must cooperate, else collective security is no good.

Of all this President Eisenhower is aware as he accepts the truce; but, more than that, he is grounded in experience in organizing and directing vast operations in cooperation with allies. And, as he said, "We have won an armistice on a single battleground, not peace in the world" and in that continuing endeavor we will need allies.

MORE OR LESS PERSONAL

— A Chat with the EDITOR —

(Mr. McConnell is on vacation. Today's column space is used for reprinted editorial comment by Nebraska editors.)

YORK DAILY NEWS TIMES: The News-Times conducted a poll with regard to proposed changes in the Nebraska Unicameral system of government and from it we learned this:

That most people do not know their mind on the proposal.

The burden of proof that a change is needed will fall upon the shoulders of those who have convictions regarding the matter.

* * *

The controversy of Unicameral vs. the old two house partisan system will not be as popular as an issue more simple and understandable.

Burden Of Proof

The News-Times received 300 ballots on the parking meter issue; it received 250 on whether or not to change the Nebraska car license plates; on the subject of removal of the stone entrances to the court house 225 expressions were tabulated. Changing our form of government is over the heads of most of us.

* * *

The Unicameral question brought in 25 ballots.

Ye editor has favored the two house, partisan system of government, but without knowing too much about the attributes of the Unicameral. Kenneth Diers, representative from the York-Seward district, believes the Unicameral highly successful.

The American form of government as originally conceived was predicated on the party system, one to act as a check on the other. The party system is conducive to debate and expression of opinion. Under the party system there is little opportunity for government to fall in the hands of a dictatorship. As long as we have two strong parties the wishes of the people will be carried out.

The debates of partisan government often are exasperating, but Unicameral government also can sink into the morass of inconclusiveness.

* * *

If those who would like a return of the two-party system get the job done they will have to prove that the Unicameral system is—

Negative and not positive.

Cold and not hot.

COLUMBUS DAILY TELEGRAM: The income tax law is diabolically drawn to penalize the father who harbors the old-fashioned idea that it might actually do his 16-year-old some good to work a bit after school and on Saturdays, and to get a full-time job for the summer months . . . The non-working 16-year-old is somewhat of an asset to his father because the Old Man can list him as a dependent and thereby obtain some reduction of his income tax . . . but if an enterprising 16-year-old steps out and earns $500 or more in a year, the Old Man, though claiming him as a dependent, must add the youngster's earning to his own and pay the tax on their joint incomes. We suppose that provision in the law is predicated on one of two assumptions . . . (1) that the lad will devote his earnings to aiding in supporting himself, or (2) that Dad will confiscate Junior's earnings . . . Either assumption, we submit, is in most instances fallacious in this day and age.

An Asset Of Sorts

NORFOLK DAILY NEWS: Zela Loomis of the Columbus Telegram is a Democrat, though we believe that neither F.D.R. or H.S.T. ever was able to get his branding iron on the Columbus editor.

As a Democrat, Editor Loomis' sizing up of the new effort of the Democratic National Committee, the magazine Democratic Digest, is of greater interest than would be the appraisal of a black Republican. Mr. Loomis has seen the magazine, which has just appeared on the news stands, and he finds that it appears "designed to serve three purposes . . . (1) to carry the crying towel for that element of the Democratic party—our own party—that is still sobbing over what took place at the polls last November . . . (2) to criticize the Eisenhower administration for its inability to solve in six months all the problems spawned by the preceding administration . . . (3) to replenish from counter sales and subscription revenues the party's empty financial coffers . . . It has apparently chosen to use as some of its tools the three crutches of literature . . . sarcasm, ridicule and innuendo."

Accepts Appraisal

In the absence of an opportunity to examine the new magazine, we'll accept Editor Loomis' judgment as to the magazine.

NEBRASKA CITY NEWS PRESS (J. Hyde Sweet): It is unpopular to criticize cities by saying they are filthy. But it is true . . . Convincing!

Likes It Normal

LINCOLN—The battle of the babies is on!

In the Public Mind there have appeared two articles concerning phenomenal performances by babies. One whistled at 10½ months; the other had 8 teeth at 8 months and walked when 8½ months old.

Now settle back and absorb this:

Our baby (I give my wife some credit) can't whistle a lick. In fact, our 4-year-old can't whistle.

Our youngest can't walk—or even crawl—and he's pushing 8 months.

You can spot some teeth on the young one if you look long and hard enough, but the kid doesn't like adults gawking at his gums so we have no up-to-date cuspid census.

I'm not griping about my children's inabilities to whistle, totter while tots, or produce teeth while still tiny. I kind of like things normal around my household.

Beer and Minors

LINCOLN—We read in the Sunday Journal and Star (July 26) the item concerning minors purchasing beer in the state of Nebraska and how our state intends to cope with such a situation. But truthfully do our state-house representatives think that issuing cards and snapshots to those 21 and over will clean the state of minor beer drinkers?

Many people say we teen-agers don't realize the responsibility of life, that we are reckless and often times hazards on the highways of America. We are not denying this fact but were you not youths too just a few years ago? If we may help you to recall say 25 or 30 years ago to your youth, do you remember how you made a little bet with the boys that the fellow in the tavern would sell you a six pack even though you were a minor? Remember? Well, the youth of today is no different. We still like to brag on how such and such a place sold us beer, naturally under age.

The state of Kansas doesn't seem to have near as much trouble as Nebraska does—even though they do sell beer to 18-year-olds. It seems to us that if we are of age to fight and be drafted for war, the question might be raised, should it be unlawful to sell us beer? Don't get us wrong, we don't intend to be drunkards but is it not better to do things within the law than behind its back? All of our parents have said, "If you're going to smoke or drink—even though we might d i s a p p r o v e—we'd rather have you do it in front of us than behind our backs." Are they not true American parents? Won't you just give us a chance to prove that if beer could be sold to us at 18 we would be a far better state and county because anything is better if it is done on the up and up than illegally?

TWO TEEN-AGERS

Grade C Milk

LINCOLN—This is a challenge to all Grade C milk producers (there are a lot of us). If our Grade C milk is not good enough for Lincoln, then our money is not good enough either. These small towns have everything Lincoln has and maybe more too. At least their places of business remain open on Saturday evening.

With farm prices steadily declining who can afford to fix up for producing Grade A milk? A landlord won't as he reaps no profit and a tenant isn't that foolish. Anyway it would take a millionaire to keep up with their ever-changing demands.

What is more underhanded than the way the dairies demanded Grade C producers buy electric coolers or stop selling milk? We find now that this was only a scheme to try to force these producers to sell Grade A milk. The dairies made a contract with the electric cooler dealer to pay for the cooler monthly, taking money from produers' checks. One Lincoln dairy has notified their producers they will take no more Grade C milk starting Aug. 1. These farmers will receive no milk check after this date through no fault of their own. I ask, "Who should be the losers?"

We have been told by a competent employee of this dairy that our Grade C milk is in far better condition than much of the Grade A milk they receive.

Here is an illustration to show how well our Grade C milk holds up. Often we have had a can of milk returned to us marked sour. After the hauler has kept it on his truck the rest of that day and night we find it still sweet. Unknown to them, we put it into cold water (not an electric cooler) and on the third morning we sent it back to the dairy. It was accepted as sweet milk. Boy, are their faces red? Sorry we never got around to tell them about it before.

INSIDE THE STATEHOUSE With Clarke Thomas

Equalization Followed Soul-Searching

While on the surface the State Board of Equalization presented a united front in this year's great equalization effort, underneath there had been so many questionings the entire effort was often in doubt . . .

AFTER THE SUPREME COURT in the Johnson County farmlands assessment case said that tax assessment laws must be obeyed,, the five members of the Board probably had five different ideas of what should be done.

For Gov. Robert Crosby, Secretary of State Frank Marsh, and State Tax Commissioner Norris Anderson the problem came within days after they had taken office.

Thomas

For State Auditor Ray Johnson and State Treasurer Frank Heintze it was another battle in the war with tax assessments they had had ever since holding their offices.

In the crucial weeks before the state assessment date of March 10, counsel from the attorney general's office suggested that strongly worded instructions to the counties be put out.

Apparently the officials involved were not convinced this was the answer.

* * *

A NON-POLITICIAN, Tax Commissioner Anderson ultimately proved the spearhead in the mater. Taking the job after being a professor of economics at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, Anderson saw only that there was a job to be done, regardless of political consequences.

He told his field men to urge county assessors to raise valuations this year in conformity with law.

* * *

THESE MEN—Ernest Woodard of Hebron, Hollis Gustafson of Lyon, Roy McCulley of Mullen, Lew Holston of Trenton, and Art Johnson of Bridgeport — got the ball rolling.

For instance, Gustafson told me he went to one county where he had strong friends among the county officials. He got their pledge to live up to the law.

Using this pledge, he went to the next county and the next, gradually building up a bloc of counties which agreed to live up to the law.

* * *

ABOUT THIS TIME Gov. Crosby apparently had a change in heart. He has told me it came about the time the Legislature refused to repeal the new 50 per cent law, even after he had made a special appearance to ask this be done. That was late in March.

Crosby said he decided that the job had to be done this year, that there was no way of evading it, and that regardless of the political consequences to his career he was going to take up the fight.

The new governor began putting out stronger and stronger statements, and advised questioners from all over the state in both public and private conversation that the state was going to be equalized this year.

It was difficult for reporters to tell when the others finally decided that equalization must come this year. But by the time the Board called in the 93 counties to report what they had done, it was evident to observers that three or maybe all five of the board members would go along with Anderson and Crosby, even if it meant higher valuations for many counties.

* * *

IT IS ALL WELL to talk about how there was nothing else for these officials to do but vote for the increases. But it's a lot different to cast such a vote when there is a good chance it may cost you the needed votes in the next election. To me this was the most heartening thing about the entire effort — that five state officials, four of them politically elected, could put an ideal of fairness above the possible cost in votes.

* * *

AT FINAL SESSIONS of the Board, when county by county decisions were being made, apparently the atmosphere was entirely harmonious. Despite fears there would be dissenters, the officials went down the line together.

Ray Johnson, who had often been critical of the effort as being too much of a jump to take in one year, helped considerably because his years of working with Nebraska county officials gave a breadth of experience on county by county problems connected with assessments.

At any rate, sometime between early March and late July enough had taken place that when State Treasurer Heintze was asked whether he voted along with the others on the various increases candidly replied, "By this time, what else was there to do."

* * *

INCIDENTALLY Heintze made a last minute move to have the state general fund levy set at 3.88 mills. The figure at which the Board had arrived was 3.90 mills. Heintze reasoned that since the general fund levy last year was 5.88 mills, it would be a good psychological move to be abel to say that this levy had been cut a full two mills this year. When it looked as though he wouldn't get support, Heintze called down to a Lincoln dentist's office where Secretary of State Marsh was having his teeth fixed. Marsh came back to sit with the Board but didn't vote for the Heintze motion.

ROBERT S. ALLEN Reports

Feud Threatens Reciprocal Trade Act

WASHINGTON — There is an unusual personal situation in the bitter backstage battle that is threatening the continuance of the Reciprocal Trade Act.

Each branch of Congress has passed its own bill to extend this law for another year, but they have been unable to get together on these slightly different measures because of the unyielding stand of two veteran legislators whose combined service totals 65 years.

Allen

They are Rep. Daniel Reed (R-NY), rambunctious chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, who is the fourth senior member of the House with 34 consecutive years of service, and Sen. Walter George, Ga., ranking Democratic member of the Finance Committee, who has sat in the upper chamber since 1922, longer than any other living member by five years.

The two powerful old-timers are hotly deadlocked over a single issue — whether the six-member bi-partisan U.S. Tariff Commission shall be converted into a seven-member partisan agency.

The bill voted by the House would do that. Republican leaders of the chamber contended this change was necessary to enable them to line up enough votes to approve President Eisenhower's request that the Trade Act be continued for another year. But the Senate refused to accept this concession to the high-tariff foes of the legislation.

Led by a bi-partisan spearhead, consisting of George and Sen. Eugene Millikin, Colo., Republican chairman of the Finance Committee, the upper chamber approved a bill that retains the Tariff Commission in its present form.

That was weeks ago, and the two branches of Congress are still as far apart as ever over this issue. Unless Reed or George yields in the next few days, the whole reciprocal trade system, developed during the past 20 years, will be destroyed —because of the following: Actually, the law expired June 30. But the system has been kept functioning because of the confident belief the Act would be renewed, as demanded by the President. But if Congress adjourns this weekend without doing that, because of the clash over the Tariff Commission, then reciprocal trade is a dead duck.

* * *

FLASHES—Gov. James Byrnes will be appointed to the five-member U. S. delegation to the U. N. General Assembly, which will name the commission that will conduct the political conference with the Reds that follows the Korean armistice. The South Carolina leader, who supported President Eisenhower last year, will visit him in Denver next month. Byrnes will also address the governors convention in Seattle . . . The President will NOT veto the bill killing the 20 per cent movie tax. That's the inside word from Sen. Eugene Millikin (R-Colo), chairman of the Finance Committee. He is telling colleagues there is nothing to reports the President will axe the bill with a veto. There have been numerous rumors this would happen because the bill will cost the Treasury $100,000,000 in tax revenue.

THE ONCE OVER By H. I. Phillips

Emil Views the Armistice

Dear Babe:

Well at last there's an armistice. It could be just a switch to bigger "tents" with more seating capacity and more modern voice throwing equipment, but I hope not. Still an armistice can keep a guy at the front longer than war can these days. All the same it is great to have the shooting over and not to care who is on some rockpile and who ain't. If I never go up one side of a mountain and down the other again it will be too soon.

I don't know how the war came out, but Sgt. Mooney says the U.N. broke even on steep hills and finished a little ahead of the enemy on rocky caves and precipices I think the Commies were as anxious as we to call time out as this had become the kind of war in which neither side could come up wtih the right answer to the plain question, "Who's ahead?" even for Groucho Marx and a $1,000 jackpot. If there was ever a war in which it was hard to feel noble and heroic this was it. It got started as a police action but I never met no GI who planned to join the Policeman's Benefit League instead of the American Legion when he got home from Korea. Me and all the others in this shindig did the very best we could and it was no picnic. I am sorry things didn't turn out better for the South Koreans. They went through hell and deserved a better break. You can't see the blind and crippled kids and the starving old folks over here without wishing we could of shoved the Commies back behind their own goal posts, but the whole global problem is too deep for me. All I know is it is a week since I fought anybody for the right to sleep outdoors on a rocky hill and I feel rested for the first time in a couple of years. We all want to get home, but we are not counting on being at Coney Island or in the Roxy lobby soon. Sgt. Mooney says I can expect to be kept over in Korea guarding electric iceboxes, TV sets, fancy kitchen gadgets, deep-freeze units and blueprints which will be used to rehabilitate South Korea. A big force of GI's may be needed to see that the Commies don't capture the bulldozers, derricks, steam shovels and lease-lend architects.

It will be a break if my homecoming gets on the agenda before I have long white whiskers.

State's Tax Levy Is 5.75

Equalization Credited For 1.23 Mill Drop

The total state tax levy this year will be 5.75 mills or $5.75 worth of tax on every $1,000 worth of assessed property.

The figure, announced by the state board of equalization, marks a considerable drop from the 6.98 mills last year.

It came because of the great equalization effort this year which will culminate in the state board's raising valuations in many counties.

But Nebraskans will be paying $1.23 less tax per $1,000 worth of property than last year.

* * *

TOTAL ASSESSED valuation of the state for taxation purposes has been found to be $3,370,919,463. The total actual valuation would be twice that figure.

The total valuation last year—against which mill levies were applied before the 50 per cent law was passed was $3,087,816,140.

The 5.75 mill includes a 3.90 mill levy for the general fund. The general fund levy last year was 5.88 mills. The new total mill levy includes a 1.1 mill levy for the state institutional building fund; a .25 levy for University of Nebraska Medical College; and a .50 mill levy for the teachers' retirement fund.

* * *

THE LATTER TWO levies were passed by the 1953 Legislature.

Thus the new mill levy apparently bears out Gov. Robert Crosby's prediction that the total mill levy would drop considerably if the equalization effort was made.

The 3.90 general fund levy is expected to raise $13,146,580 this year's part of the total budget.

The total tax levy of 5.75 mills is expected to raise $19,382,786. On the special levies estimates are made.

The state needs $26,246,165 to operate during the first year of the 1953-55 biennium, which began July 1. However, cash receipts and other revenue will cut the amount to be raised by the general fund levy to $13,146,585.

Here is the breakdown of what is expected from the various state levies:

General fund	3.90 mills	$13,146,585 91
Special levy for state bldg fd	1.10 mills	3,708,011.41
Special levy for Med'l College	.25 mills	842,729 87
Special levy for Tch. Ret. Fd.	.50 mills	1,685,459 73
Total state tax levies	5.75 mills	$19,382,788 92

Klaasmeyer sustained burns on about 25 per cent of his body in the explosion which destroyed his home and also slightly injured two sons, Alfred and Kenneth. His wife and daughter, Andrea, escaped injury.

Electric Sander May Have Killed Omahan

OMAHA (AP)—An Omaha youth was found dead in the garage at the rear of his home, and police said it had not been determined whether Lyle Bessey, 16, died from natural causes or was electrocuted by an electric sander he was operating.

Army Bid Opening Finds No Bidders

OMAHA (AP)—Omaha District Army Engineers held a bid opening Tuesday, but had no bidders.

The project was a private levee from Wren Junction to Merrill, Ia., about 15 miles north of Sioux City.

The levee was damaged by the June Flash flood on the Floyd River.

An engineers spokesman said plans are to readvertise immediately on the project to get needed repairs completed.

Bids probably will be opened within the next three weeks.

House Helps Odell Couple, Japanese Tot

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives has passed a bill calling for early admission to this country of a Japanese-American orphan girl a Nebraska couple wants to adopt.

Rep. Curtis (R-Neb), who introduced the measure passed Monday, said it will facilitate admission of Ruth Rumiko Fukano, whom Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Vance of Odell want to adopt.

His bill grants the child nonquota status in the issuance of an immigrant visa. Under normal conditions, the 4-year-old girl, born Sept. 13, 1948, would have had to come to America under Japan's regular immigration quota, which might have meant years of delay.

If a similar measure introduced by Sen. Butler (R-Neb) passes the Senate, Ruth may reach her new home this fall.

Omaha Killing Ruled Self Defense by Jury

OMAHA (AP)—A coroner's jury ruled that John B. Caldwell fatally wounded Norman F. Rose, 27, in self defense.

The 74-year-old Caldwell shot and stabbed Rose to death after an argument over garbage disposal and hot water at their apartment building.

Court Hears Star Witness In Fish Trial

NORTH PLATTE (AP)—Harvey Locke, star witness for the state in the first degree murder trial of James Leroy Fish here, took the stand Tuesday.

Fish, 27, is charged with the slaying of Highway Patrolman Vernon Rolfs on May 30. Locke was with Fish at the time of the slaying.

The two men had just been arrested by Rolfs for speeding.

Locke said he and Fish planned a liquor store holdup the day of the shooting. After they were arrested by Rolfs and were being taken to North Platte Locke said he "saw a flash and heard a gunshot." Fish has admitted the shooting but claims it was accidental.

Locke said he grabbed the wheel of the car and drove the wounded officer to where help could be given. The three rode in Rolfs' patrol car after Fish's car stalled.

The state paraded a total of 11 witnesses before the Lincoln County District Court in the opening day of the trial.

Fremont Phone Building Set

FREMONT (AP)—Plans have been completed and bids are being sought for construction here of a new telephone building and other improvements which will cost about $1 million.

D. P. Anderson, Fremont manager of Northwestern Bell Telephone, said construction is expected to start soon and the project is expected to be finished late in 1954.

The new building will be a combination one and two story structure of reinforced concrete and brick.

The first installation of dial equipment is expected to take care of local telephone needs until sometime in the 1960s.

Anderson said the new long distance switchboard will enable the direct dialing of long distance calls to and from other cities by operators.

Services for Accident Victim to Be Friday

SUPERIOR—Services for Larry Willett, 15-year-old Nelson resident who was fatally injured in a pickup truck crash, will be at 10 a.m. Friday at the Denney Funeral Home in Superior.

Meanwhile, "no improvement" was reported in the condition of the driver of the truck, Charles Sell, 16, who also lives near Nelson. Sell, the son of Mrs. Marvin Cassell of Nelson, is hospitalized at Superior.

FOR RECLAMATION WORK—Chairman A. L. Miller (R-Neb) of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee receives a gavel from William E. Welsh, secretary of the National Reclamation Association. Made at Kearney State Teachers College of Nebraska of 60-year-old woods furnished by Dr. George E. Condra, director of the Conservation Survey of the University of Nebraska, the gavel was presented in recognition of Miller's good work in behalf of reclamation.

Rep. Miller Presented Gavel Made of Native State Wood

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman A. L. Miller (R-Neb) of the House Interior Committee has a new gavel—made of Nebraska wood—to pound at committee sessions.

It was presented to him a few days ago by the Nebraska Reclamation Association.

* * *

IN MAKING the presentation, William E. Welsh, secretary of the National Reclamation Association, said Miller was being honored "for the good work you have done and are doing in assisting with the development of this great state in reclamation."

Welch made the presentation in behalf of C. Petrus Peterson of Lincoln, president of the Association, who could not be here.

The history of the gavel and stand dates back to 1893—10 years before President Theodore Roosevelt signed the first reclamation law passed by Congress.

The wood—all native to Nebraska—is a part of a large collection of Dr. George E. Condra, veteran director of the Conservation and Survey Division of the University of Nebraska.

The base is made from box elder, the stand or upright from red cedar, and the gavel from hickory—all from huge trees which were growing in various parts of Nebraska before the turn of the century.

Ainsworth OKs Irrigation District

AINSWORTH (AP)—Organization of the Ainsworth Irrigation District was approved in a special election, 188 to 44.

Of 267 eligible landowners, 233 cast votes. Seventeen of them were by mail and uncounted.

The Ainsworth District is the first one of the proposed Niobarar River Basin Plan to win approval of landowners.

Of the 35,000 acres of irrigable land within the district, practically all are within Brown County.

Elected district directors were Henry S. Miles of Johnstown, Ben Clark of Ainsworth and Malter Frederickson of Long Pine.

The next move is the completion of a repayment plan with the Bureau of Reclamation. Directors hope to have that done by Dec. 1.

A morning program for both men and women has been planned, and the men's program will continue into the afternoon.

Highlighting the men's program will be "Modern Dairy Farming," which will include discussions, tours and demonstrations on grass silage, pastures, fly control, labor saving equipment, hay drying, construction of wells that meet Grade A dairy requirements, harvesting pastures with field choppers, construction of bull pens, and in-place cleaning of milking machines.

The women's program will include a discussion of the activities of the newly formed Lincoln Dairy Council by Mrs. Lucille Fleming, of the council, a discussion on "Perking Up the Living Room" by Miss Evelyn Metzger of the University of Nebraska Home Economics Department, and a pictorial review of the trial lily plantings at the University's Horticultural Gardens, by Wayne C. Whitney, extension horticulturist.

Both programs begin at 10 a.m. The women will meet in the Foods and Nutrition Building on the College of Agriculture campus, and the men at the Havelock Experiment Farm at 74th Street and Havelock Avenue.

A grass silage clinic will highlight the afternoon program. Fourteen samples of silage and hay, put up this year, will be on display, and the feed value of each, as computed from chemical analysis, will be discussed.

Editorial Comment and Opinion

Polite Toughness the Keynote

The Reds won't come around unless you make it hurt if they refuse.

Softness doesn't pay; firm polite toughness does.

These admirably realistic statements purport to sum up the attitude the U. S. state department will take at the political conference scheduled for August in Korea. It mirrors a bold new spirit very welcome to the American people after years of frustrating adjustment and a costly though undeclared war, now in recess.

It isn't that American diplomats plan to offer inducements outright for the unification of Korea, either to North Korea or to Red China. This would give a wrong slant altogether, besides being unsafe until it is certain that China doesn't have trouble up her sleeve for some other Asian area. Instead, writes a Wall Street Journal man in Washington, they will tell the Communists what will happen if they don't agree to the restoration of Korea—a Korea whose government would be chosen in free democratic elections.

The implied propositions listed, while not coinciding precisely at every point with those Secretary Dulles disclosed at a news conference Tuesday, gave every appearance of having been "leaked" by the customary "sources close to the administration." Where Mr. Dulles was content to say he would hold out indefinitely against admitting Red China to the United Nations, the "source" allowed himself some leeway, as is shown in the first of these three principal implications:

"We will resist Red China's entry into U.N. with all our might while Korea remains divided. But if the Chinese agree to unification, and otherwise mind their P's and Q's, it might be pretty hard to keep them out.

"We will keep large armies in South Korea, regardless of the truce. We will go on training and building up South Korean armies. If the Communists want to get U. S. and U. N. forces to go home, they will have to agree to Korea's aspirations.

"We will continue our economic embargo of Red China, regardless of the truce, thus making it very hard for Mao's country to get anywhere with her urgent five-year industrialization plan. Whenever the Chinese are ready to agree to a unified Korea, we will start thinking about lifting the embargo."

That so much depends on Red China is regrettable. But there would be no point to mending Korea's fences unless we were certain that China wouldn't then move in on the peninsula. If the Chinese leaders are as practical as they are believed to be, and one-tenth as far-seeing, they ought to be impressed. Whatever it was that the Kremlin promised them, their people have had nothing yet but the privilege of dying by the million or, those who survived, facing famine at home. If the diplomats are sufficiently diplomatic as to give the Chinese a chance to save face, there is no telling what can be accomplished.

Bombs as a Barometer

While industry and the market place have been wooing small investors with rather more success than usual this year, one of their selling points now threatens to turn and bite them. And while it usually attracts only very modest investors, the reason for its recent showing of strength is worth noting. This is the U. S. savings bond, familiarly known as the defense bond, and earlier as the war bond and Liberty bond. (Thousands now living can still recall the bond rallies of 1918 and thereabouts).

This handy little package has had hard sledding of late years, due to dat old debbil inflation. The $100 one gets for a bond that cost $75 a decade ago hasn't been any bargain, prices being what they are. And so the customers have been cashing them much faster than new investors have bought them—until January. Ever since, purchases have exceeded surrenders. And while this can be attributed partly to a small hike in the proceeds through the process of holding the bond after it comes due, it is also seen as a tribute to an administration pledged to stability instead of to further inflation. The public realization that bonds are again a good investment is in itself a hedge, since the scramble to swap money for goods is a large factor in inducing inflation.

There is still much more room for the investing public in the areas represented by the stock market. Savings bonds are deliberately tailored to the small investor's wallet, and their returning strength is a good sign all around.

Gone, a Genuine Yankee

The death of Senator Tobey removed from the American scene a figure not merely picturesque to the point of being photogenic, but independent, unpredictable and individual far beyond the range of most public men. It was the Kefauver crime hearings that brought him into the public eye and ear and spread his renown across the country. His wit and keenness delighted TV spectators, as did his insistence on knowing all about the crimes and criminals involved.

It was all part of the independence that sometimes puzzled his constituents but moved them to send him back to the Senate time after time. He was never a backslapper or a frequenter of the smoke-filled rooms where deals are made. Nobody ever knew how his mind worked, but work it did, and never grew stale for lack of vigorous exercise. Sen. Tobey was a Bull Mooser (so long ago did his political career begin) and a sharp critic of the New Deal and its facility in pouring out money. An isolationist up to 1941, he shed that philosophy when Pearl Harbor was attacked, and became a strong supporter of the international policies entailed by the war and the peace. When New Hampshire's regular Republicans tried to put him out of business in 1950, he fought and won a hard battle. At the age of 73 he was still a fighter.

Lessons Learned in Korea

WASHINGTON — When President Truman announced our stand with the United Nations in Korea against the North Korean Communist aggressor, he was cheered to the rafters by Congress. Our people applauded, too. When a truce finally was signed, no cheers arose, no hats were thrown in air—in congress or anywhere else. You could almost hear a pin drop.

Stokes

In between, there were three years and a month. In between, there was blood, 140,000 American casualties including over 22,000 dead. In between there was grueling war of a most frustrating sort, and a new kind for the United States, that is, in objective and aim. It was a confusing war, with nothing quite certain, and no final victory in the orthodox manner. Nothing to stir a celebration. We were back where we started.

So what? You hear this question all around.

The asking of the question and the lack of any soaring elation with the end of this strange war—all that bespeaks a new experience for us and, in a way, a sense of maturity. We have learned that defending freedom is a grim business, requiring patience, and a long business that may go on and on, even with more Koreas, so that it is not possible just to write "finis" on what may be just an episode. We have learned that we cannot pick the terrain where freedom is to be defended and that, in the world today, it can be defended only by collective action of all nations imbued with the instinct of freedom, and that results are not likely to be the flaming, certain victory of the dramatic type, but, a good deal of the time, perhaps most of the time, just holding the line.

That was what happened in Korea, and in that respect it was a very substantial victory—that is, if we recognize that and hold to it in the future.

* * *

Accepted Challenge

It is necessary again, if repetitious, to recall a few simple elemental facts — so that we may go on from here in confidence.

To recall that out of the Second World War there came a world organization designed to prevent future wars. That organization, the United Nations, created at San Francisco, finally got its first test of its collective security principle, which is its essence, when an aggressor, North Korea, attacked a ward of the U. N., South Korea.

At our prompting, the U. N. accepted the challenge, met the issue where the aggressor struck and, through all the vicissitudes of a war up and down the peninsula, has held the line. Throughout we recognized that this aggression was Russian-inspired. When Russia's North Korean satellite could not stand up under the attack of the U. N. armies, then Red China entered the war as it rolled toward her border, and threw back the U. N. forces. But the U. N. line was stabilized on the line between North and South Korea, where the war ended, as it began.

Had the U. N. not accepted the challenge, it would have wilted away and died, even as did the League of Nations. Communism would have swarmed over Japan and by now, perhaps, would have spread its control over other free areas in the Pacific. That advance was checked. Furthermore, our bold decision to stand at Korea and our enlistment of the U. N. inspired confidence in us all over the world, including the free nations of Western Europe, and certainly hastened steps by Western Europe to protect herself.

* * *

Built Up Defenses

While keeping Red China pinned down in Korea and thus preventing concentrated conquests in other directions, particularly Indo-China, we also bought time to build up our own defenses so that now we are stronger than ever, in ourselves, and through the strength of our allies which we have bolstered, both by example and by actual aid.

Again, with the truce, we hear the complaint that we have not come off with an "American" type victory; that we should have staged an all-out offensive and swept the enemy out of Korea. The name of Gen. Douglas MacArthur is revived as the symbol of what is meant, even though the general was not able to pull that off when he attempted it. Again it is being said also that we were held back by our allies.

Our allies feared risking a war with all Asia that might explode into a Third World War and so, as a matter of fact, did top officials here, including the military. Significant it is that some who would broaden the war, requiring all sorts of American resources and many men, include members of Congress who consistently have voted against adequate defense appropriations. Nor do they seem to realize that, in collective security, decisions cannot be individual, but must represent the consensus of all; for, once the die is cast, all must cooperate, else collective security is no good.

Of all this President Eisenhower is aware as he accepts the truce; but, more than that, he is grounded in experience in organizing and directing vast operations in cooperation with allies. And, as he said, "We have won an armistice on a single battleground, not peace in the world" and in that continuing endeavor we will need allies.

MORE OR LESS PERSONAL
— A Chat with the EDITOR —

(Mr. McConnell is on vacation. Today's column space is used for reprinted editorial comment by Nebraska editors.)

YORK DAILY NEWS TIMES: The News-Times conducted a poll with regard to proposed changes in the Nebraska Unicameral system of government and from it we learned this:

That most people do not know their mind on the proposal.

The burden of proof that a change is needed will fall upon the shoulders of those who have convictions regarding the matter.

* * *

The controversy of Unicameral vs. the old two house partisan system will not be as popular as an issue more simple and understandable.

Burden Of Proof

The News-Times received 300 ballots on the parking meter issue; it received 250 on whether or not to change the Nebraska car license plates; on the subject of removal of the stone entrances to the court house 225 expressions were tabulated. Changing our form of government is over the heads of most of us.

* * *

The Unicameral question brought in 25 ballots.

Ye editor has favored the two house, partisan system of government, but without knowing too much about the attributes of the Unicameral. Kenneth Diers, representative from the York-Seward district, believes the Unicameral highly successful.

The American form of government as originally conceived was predicated on the party system, one to act as a check on the other. The party system is conducive to debate and expression of opinion. Under the party system there is little opportunity for government to fall in the hands of a dictatorship. As long as we have two strong parties the wishes of the people will be carried out.

The debates of partisan government often are exasperating, but Unicameral government also can sink into the morass of inconclusiveness.

* * *

If those who would like a return of the two-party system get the job done they will have to prove that the Unicameral system is—

Negative and not positive.

Cold and not hot.

COLUMBUS DAILY TELEGRAM: The income tax law is diabolically drawn to penalize the father who harbors the old-fashioned idea that it might actually do his 16-year-old some good to work a bit after school and on Saturdays, and to get a full-time job for the summer months . . . The non-working 16-year-old is somewhat of an asset to his father because the Old Man can list him as a dependent and thereby obtain some reduction of his income tax . . . but if an enterprising 16-year-old steps out and earns $500 or more in a year, the Old Man, though claiming him as a dependent, must add the youngster's earning to his own and pay the tax on their joint incomes. We suppose that provision in the law is predicated on one of two assumptions . . . (1) that the lad will devote his earnings to aiding in supporting himself, or (2) that Dad will confiscate Junior's earnings . . . Either assumption, we submit, is in most instances fallacious in this day and age.

NORFOLK DAILY NEWS: Zela Loomis of the Columbus Telegram is a Democrat, though we believe that neither F.D.R. or H.S.T. ever was able to get his branding iron on the Columbus editor.

Accepts Appraisal

As a Democrat, Editor Loomis' sizing up of the new effort of the Democratic National Committee, the magazine Democratic Digest, is of greater interest than would be the appraisal of a black Republican. Mr. Loomis has seen the magazine, which has just appeared on the news stands, and he finds that it appears "designed to serve three purposes . . . (1) to carry the crying towel for that element of the Democratic party—our own party—that is still sobbing over what took place at the polls last November . . . (2) to criticize the Eisenhower administration for its inability to solve in six months all the problems spawned by the preceding administration . . . (3) to replenish from counter sales and subscription revenues the party's empty financial coffers . . . It has apparently chosen to use as some of its tools the three crutches of literature . . . sarcasm, ridicule and innuendo."

In the absence of an opportunity to examine the new magazine, we'll accept Editor Loomis' judgment as to the magazine.

Likes It Normal

LINCOLN—The battle of the babies is on!

In the Public Mind there have appeared two articles concerning phenomenal performances by babies. One whistled at 10½ months; the other had 8 teeth at 8 months and walked when 8½ months old.

Now settle back and absorb this:

Our baby (I give my wife some credit) can't whistle a lick. In fact, our 4-year-old can't whistle.

Our youngest can't walk—or even crawl—and he's pushing 8 months.

You can spot some teeth on the young one if you look long and hard enough, but the kid doesn't like adults gawking at his gums so we have no up-to-date cuspid census.

I'm not griping about my children's inabilities to whistle, totter while tots, or produce teeth while still tiny. I kind of like things normal around my household.

Beer and Minors

LINCOLN—We read in the Sunday Journal and Star (July 26) the item concerning minors purchasing beer in the state of Nebraska and how our state intends to cope with such a situation. But truthfully do our statehouse representatives think that issuing cards and snapshots to those 21 and over will clean the state of minor beer drinkers?

Many people say we teen-agers don't realize the responsibility of life, that we are reckless and often times hazards on the highways of America. We are not denying this fact but were you not youths too just a few years ago? If we may help you to recall say 25 or 30 years ago to your youth, do you remember how you made a little bet with the boys that the fellow in the tavern would sell you a six pack even though you were a minor? Remember? Well, the youth of today is no different. We still like to brag on how such and such a place sold us beer, naturally under age.

The state of Kansas doesn't seem to have near as much trouble as Nebraska does—even though they do sell beer to 18-year-olds. It seems to us that if we are of age to fight and be drafted for war, the question might be raised, should it be unlawful to sell us beer? Don't get us wrong, we don't intend to be drunkards but is it not better to do things within the law than behind its back? All of our parents have said, "If you're going to smoke or drink—even though we might d i s a p p r o v e—we'd rather have you do it in front of us than behind our backs." Are they not true American parents? Won't you just give us a chance to prove that if beer could be sold to us at 18 we would be a far better state and county because anything is better if it is done on the up and up than illegally?

TWO TEEN-AGERS

Grade C Milk

LINCOLN—This is a challenge to all Grade C milk producers (there are a lot of us). If our Grade C milk is not good enough for Lincoln, then our money is not good enough either. These small towns have everything Lincoln has and maybe more too. At least their places of business remain open on Saturday evening.

With farm prices steadily declining who can afford to fix up for producing Grade A milk? A landlord won't as he reaps no profit and a tenant isn't that foolish. Anyway it would take a millionaire to keep up with their ever-changing demands.

What is more underhanded than the way the dairies demanded Grade C producers buy electric coolers or stop selling milk? We find now that this was only a scheme to try to force these producers to sell Grade A milk. The dairies made a contract with the electric cooler dealer to pay for the cooler monthly, taking money from produers' checks. One Lincoln dairy has notified their producers they will take no more Grade C milk starting Aug. 1. These farmers will receive no milk check after this date through no fault of their own. I ask, "Who should be the losers?"

We have been told by a competent employee of this dairy that our Grade C milk is in far better condition than much of the Grade A milk they receive.

Here is an illustration to show how well our Grade C milk holds up. Often we have had a can of milk returned to us marked sour. After the hauler has kept it on his truck the rest of that day and night we find it still sweet. Unknown to them, we put it into cold water (not an electric cooler) and on the third morning we sent it back to the dairy. It was accepted as sweet milk. Boy, are their faces red? Sorry we never got around to tell them about it before.

INSIDE THE STATEHOUSE With Clarke Thomas

Equalization Followed Soul-Searching

While on the surface the State Board of Equalization presented a united front in this year's great equalization effort, underneath there had been so many questionings the entire effort was often in doubt . . .

AFTER THE SUPREME COURT in the Johnson County farmlands assessment case said that tax assessment laws must be obeyed,, the five members of the Board probably had five different ideas of what should be done.

For Gov. Robert Crosby, Secretary of State Frank Marsh, and State Tax Commissioner Norris Anderson the problem came within days after they had taken office.

Thomas

For State Auditor Ray Johnson and State Treasurer Frank Heintze it was another battle in the war with tax assessments they had had ever since holding their offices.

In the crucial weeks before the state assessment date of March 10, counsel from the attorney general's office suggested that strongly worded instructions to the counties be put out.

Apparently the officials involved were not convinced this was the answer.

* * *

A NON-POLITICIAN, Tax Commissioner Anderson ultimately proved the spearhead in the mater. Taking the job after being a professor of economics at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, Anderson saw only that there was a job to be done, regardless of political consequences.

He told his field men to urge county assessors to raise valuations this year in conformity with law.

* * *

THESE MEN—Ernest Woodard of Hebron, Holtis Gustafson of Lyon, Roy McCulley of Mullen, Lew Holston of Trenton, and Art Johnson of Bridgeport — got the ball rolling.

For instance, Gustafson told me he went to one county where he had strong friends among the county officials. He got their pledge to live up to the law.

Using this pledge, he went to the next county and the next, gradually building up a bloc of counties which agreed to live up to the law.

* * *

ABOUT THIS TIME Gov. Crosby apparently had a change in heart. He has told me it came about the time the Legislature refused to repeal the new 50 per cent law, even after he had made a special appearance to ask this be done. That was late in March.

Crosby said he decided that the job had to be done this year, that there was no way of evading it, and that regardless of the political consequences to his career he was going to take up the fight.

The new governor began putting out stronger and stronger statements, and advised questioners from all over the state in both public and private conversation that the state was going to be equalized this year.

It was difficult for reporters to tell when the others finally decided that equalization must come this year. But by the time the Board called in the 93 counties to report what they had done, it was evident to observers that three or maybe all five of the board members would go along with Anderson and Crosby, even if it meant higher valuations for many counties.

* * *

IT IS ALL WELL to talk about how there was nothing else for these officials to do but vote for the increases. But it's a lot different to cast such a vote when there is a good chance it may cost you the needed votes in the next election. To me this was the most heartening thing about the entire effort — that five state officials, four of them politically elected, could put an ideal of fairness above the possible cost in votes.

* * *

AT FINAL SESSIONS of the Board, when county by county decisions were being made, apparently the atmosphere was entirely harmonious. Despite fears there would be dissenters, the officials went down the line together.

Ray Johnson, who had often been critical of the effort as being too much of a jump to take in one year, helped considerably because his years of working with Nebraska county officials gave a breadth of experience on county by county problems connected with assessments.

At any rate, sometime between early March and late July enough had taken place that when State Treasurer Heintze was asked whether he voted along with the others on the various increases candidly replied, "By this time, what else was there to do."

* * *

INCIDENTALLY Heintze made a last minute move to have the state general fund levy set at 3.88 mills. The figure at which the Board had arrived was 3.90 mills. Heintze reasoned that since the general fund levy last year was 5.88 mills, it would be a good psychological move to be able to say that this levy had been cut a full two mills this year. When it looked as though he wouldn't get support, Heintze called down to a Lincoln dentist's office where Secretary of State Marsh was having his teeth fixed. Marsh came back to sit with the Board but didn't vote for the Heintze motion.

ROBERT S. ALLEN Reports

Feud Threatens Reciprocal Trade Act

WASHINGTON — There is an unusual personal situation in the bitter backstage battle that is threatening the continuance of the Reciprocal Trade Act.

Each branch of Congress has passed its own bill to extend this law for another year, but they have been unable to get together on these slightly different measures because of the unyielding stand of two veteran legislators whose combined service totals 65 years.

Allen

They are Rep. Daniel Reed (R-NY), rambunctious chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, who is the fourth senior member of the House with 34 consecutive years of service, and Sen. Walter George, Ga., ranking Democratic member of the Finance Committee, who has sat in the upper chamber since 1922, longer than any other living member by five years.

The two powerful old-timers are hotly deadlocked over a single issue — whether the six-member bi-partisan U.S. Tariff Commission shall be converted into a seven-member partisan agency.

The bill voted by the House would do that. Republican leaders of the chamber contended this change was necessary to enable them to line up enough votes to approve President Eisenhower's request that the Trade Act be continued for another year. But the Senate refused to accept this concession to the high-tariff foes of the legislation.

Led by a bi-partisan spearhead, consisting of George and Sen. Eugene Millikin, Colo., Republican chairman of the Finance Committee, the upper chamber approved a bill that retains the Tariff Commission in its present form.

That was weeks ago, and the two branches of Congress are still as far apart as ever over this issue. Unless Reed or George yields in the next few days, the whole reciprocal trade system, developed during the past 20 years, will be destroyed —because of the following: Actually, the law expired June 30. But the system has been kept functioning because of the confident belief the Act would be renewed, as demanded by the President. But if Congress adjourns this weekend without doing that, because of the clash over the Tariff Commission, then reciprocal trade is a dead duck.

* * *

FLASHES—Gov. James Byrnes will be appointed to the five-member U. S. delegation to the U. N. General Assembly, which will name the commission that will conduct the political conference with the Reds that follows the Korean armistice. The South Carolina leader, who supported President Eisenhower last year, will visit him in Denver next month. Byrnes will also address the governors convention in Seattle . . . The President will NOT veto the bill killing the 20 per cent movie tax. That's the inside word from Sen. Eugene Millikin (R-Colo), chairman of the Finance Committee. He is telling colleagues there is nothing to reports the President will axe the bill with a veto. There have been numerous rumors this would happen because the bill will cost the Treasury $100,000,000 in tax revenue.

Emil Views the Armistice

Dear Babe:

Well at last there's an armistice. It could be just a switch to bigger "tents" with more seating capacity and more modern voice throwing equipment, but I hope not. Still an armistice can keep a guy at the front longer than war can these days. All the same it is great to have the shooting over and not to care who is on some rockpile and who ain't. If I never go up one side of a mountain and down the other again it will be too soon.

I don't know how the war came out, but Sgt. Mooney says the U.N. broke even on steep hills and finished a little ahead of the enemy on rocky caves and precipices. I think the Commies were as anxious as we to call time out as this had become the kind of war in which neither side could come up with the right answer to the plain question, "Who's ahead?" even for Groucho Marx and a $1,000 jackpot. If there was ever a war in which it was hard to feel noble and heroic this was it. It got started as a police action but I never met no GI who planned to join the Policeman's Benefit League instead of the American Legion when he got home from Korea. Me and all the others in this shindig did the very best we could and it was no picnic. I am sorry things didn't turn out better for the South Koreans. They went through hell and deserved a better break. You can't see the blind and crippled kids and the starving old folks over here without wishing we could of shoved the Commies back behind their own goal posts, but the whole global problem is too deep for me. All I know is it is a week since I fought anybody for the right to sleep outdoors on a rocky hill and I feel rested for the first time in a couple of years. We all want to get home, but we are not counting on being at Coney Island or in the Roxy lobby soon. Sgt. Mooney says I can expect to be kept over in Korea guarding electric iceboxes, TV sets, fancy kitchen gadgets, deep-freeze units and blueprints which will be used to rehabilitate South Korea. A big force of GI's may be needed to see that the Commies don't capture the bulldozers, derricks, steam shovels and lease-lend architects.

State's Tax Levy Is 5.75

Equalization Credited For 1.23 Mill Drop

The total state tax levy this year will be 5.75 mills or $5.75 worth of tax on every $1,000 worth of assessed property.

The figure, announced by the state board of equalization, marks a considerable drop from the 6.98 mills last year.

It came because of the great equalization effort this year which will culminate in the state board's raising valuations in many counties.

But Nebraskans will be paying $1.23 less tax per $1,000 worth of property than last year.

* * *

TOTAL ASSESSED valuation of the state for taxation purposes has been found to be $3,370,919,463. The total actual valuation would be twice that figure.

The total valuation last year —against which mill levies were applied before the 50 per cent law was passed was $3,087,816,140.

The 5.75 mill includes a 3.90 mill levy for the general fund. The general fund levy last year was 5.88 mills. The new total mill levy includes a 1.1 mill levy for the state institutional building fund; a .25 levy for University of Nebraska Medical College; and a .50 mill levy for the teachers' retirement fund

* * *

THE LATTER TWO levies were passed by the 1953 Legislature.

Thus the new mill levy apparently bears out Gov. Robert Crosby's prediction that the total mill levy would drop considerably if the equalization effort was made

The 3.90 general fund levy is expected to raise $13,146,580 this year's part of the total budget.

The total tax levy of 5.75 mills is expected to raise $19,382,786. On the special levies estimates are made.

The state needs $26,246,185 to operate during the first year of the 1953-55 biennium, which began July 1. However, cash receipts and other revenue will cut the amount to be raised by the general fund levy to $13,146,585.

Here is the breakdown of what is expected from the various state levies:

General fund	3.90 mills	$13,146,585.01
Special levy for state bldg. fd.	1.10 mills	3,708,011.41
Special levy for Med'l College	.25 mills	842,729.87
Special levy for Tch. Ret. Fd.	.50 mills	1,685,459.73
Total state tax levies	5.75 mills	$19,382,786.02

Army Bid Opening Finds No Bidders

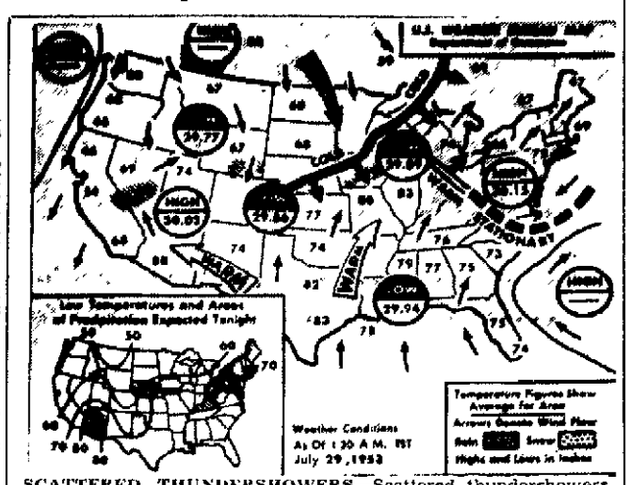

OMAHA (AP)—Omaha District Army Engineers held a bid opening Tuesday, but had no bidders.

The project was a private levee from Wren Junction to Merrill, Ia., about 15 miles north of Sioux City

The levee was damaged by the June Flash flood on the Floyd River.

An engineers spokesman said plans are to readvertise immediately on the project to get needed repairs completed.

Bids probably will be opened within the next three weeks.

House Helps Odell Couple, Japanese Tot

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives has passed a bill calling for early admission to this country of a Japanese-American orphan girl a Nebraska couple wants to adopt.

Rep. Curtis (R-Neb), who introduced the measure passed Monday, said it will facilitate admission of Ruth Rumiko Fukano, whom Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Vance of Odell want to adopt.

His bill grants the child nonquota status in the issuance of an immigrant visa. Under normal conditions, the 4-year-old girl, born Sept. 13, 1948, would have had to come to America under Japan's regular immigration quota, which might have meant years of delay.

If a similar measure introduced by Sen. Butler (R-Neb) passes the Senate, Ruth may reach her new home this fall.

Omaha Killing Ruled Self Defense by Jury

OMAHA (AP)—A coroner's jury ruled that John B. Caldwell fatally wounded Norman F. Rose, 27, in self defense.

The 74-year-old Caldwell shot and stabbed Rose to death after an argument over garbage disposal and hot water at their apartment building.

Court Hears Star Witness In Fish Trial

NORTH PLATTE (AP)—Harvey Locke, star witness for the state in the first degree murder trial of James Leroy Fish here, took the stand Tuesday.

Fish, 27, is charged with the slaying of Highway Patrolman Vernon Rolfs on May 30. Locke was with Fish at the time of the slaying.

The two men had just been arrested by Rolfs for speeding.

Locke said he and Fish planned a liquor store holdup the day of the shooting. After they were arrested by Rolfs and were being taken to North Platte Locke said he "saw a flash and heard a gunshot." Fish has admitted the shooting but claims it was accidental.

Locke said he grabbed the wheel of the car and drove the wounded officer to where help could be given. The three rode in Rolfs' patrol car after Fish's car stalled.

The state paraded a total of 11 witnesses before the Lincoln County District Court in the opening day of the trial.

Fremont Phone Building Set

FREMONT (AP)—Plans have been completed and bids are being sought for construction here of a new telephone building and other improvements which will cost about $1 million.

D. P. Anderson, Fremont manager of Northwestern Bell Telephone, said construction is expected to start soon and the project is expected to be finished late in 1954.

The new building will be a combination one and two story structure of reinforced concrete and brick.

The first installation of dial equipment is expected to take care of local telephone needs until sometime in the 1960s.

Anderson said the new long distance switchboard will enable the direct dialing of long distance calls to and from other cities by operators.

FOR RECLAMATION WORK—Chairman A. L. Miller (R-Neb) of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee receives a gavel from William E. Welsh, secretary of the National Reclamation Association. Made at Kearney State Teachers College of Nebraska of 60-year-old woods furnished by Dr. George E. Condra, director of the Conservation Survey of the University of Nebraska, the gavel was presented in recognition of Miller's good work in behalf of reclamation.

Rep. Miller Presented Gavel Made of Native State Wood

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman A. L. Miller (R-Neb) of the House Interior Committee has a new gavel—made of Nebraska wood—to pound at committee sessions.

It was presented to him a few days ago by the Nebraska Reclamation Association.

* * *

IN MAKING the presentation, William E. Welsh, secretary of the National Reclamation Association, said Miller was being honored "for the good work you have done and are doing in assisting with the development of this great state in reclamation."

Welch made the presentation in behalf of C. Petrus Peterson of Lincoln, president of the Association, who could not be here.

The history of the gavel and stand dates back to 1893—10 years before President Theodore Roosevelt signed the first reclamation law passed by Congress

The wood—all native to Nebraska—is a part of a large collection of Dr. George E. Condra, veteran director of the Conservation and Survey Division of the University of Nebraska.

The base is made from box elder, the stand or upright from red cedar, and the gavel from hickory—all from huge trees which were growing in various parts of Nebraska before the turn of the century.

Ainsworth OKs Irrigation District

AINSWORTH (AP)—Organization of the Ainsworth Irrigation District was approved in a special election, 188 to 44.

Of 267 eligible landowners, 233 cast votes. Seventeen of them were by mail and uncounted.

The Ainsworth District is the first one of the proposed Niobarar River Basin Plan to win approval of landowners.

Of the 35,000 acres of irrigable land within the district, practically all are within Brown County.

Elected district directors were Henry S. Miles of Johnstown, Ben Clark of Ainsworth and Malter Frederickson of Long Pine.

The next move is the completion of a repayment plan with the Bureau of Reclamation. Directors hope to have that done by Dec. 1.

NU Dairy Field Day Set Thursday

Several hundred Nebraska dairy farmers and their wives are expected to attend the Dairy Field Day at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture Thursday.

A morning program for both men and women has been planned, and the men's program will continue into the afternoon.

Highlighting the men's program will be "Modern Dairy Farming," which will include discussions, tours and demonstrations on grass silage, pastures, fly control, labor saving equipment, hay drying, construction of wells that meet Grade A dairy requirements, harvesting pastures with field choppers, construction of bull pens, and in-place cleaning of milking machines.

The women's program will include a discussion of the activities of the newly formed Lincoln Dairy Council by Mrs. Lucille Fleming, of the council, a discussion on "Perking Up the Living Room" by Miss Evelyn Metzger of the University of Nebraska Home Economics Department, and a pictorial review of the trial lily plantings at the University's Horticultural Gardens, by Wayne C. Whitney, extension horticulturist.

Both programs begin at 10 a.m. The women will meet in the Foods and Nutrition Building on the College of Agriculture campus, and the men at the Havelock Experiment Farm at 74th Street and Havelock Avenue.

Also on the morning's program will be a tour of the pasture experiments, in which the results of heavy fertilization and irrigation will be observed and discussed.

A grass silage clinic will highlight the afternoon program. Fourteen samples of silage and hay, put up this year, will be on display, and the feed value of each, as computed from chemical analysis, will be discussed.

Yanks View Communist Charm Girl—Rating: 'Ugly'

WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP)—American marines have had their first look at the Red Dragon Lady—the Communist siren with a loud speaker

She should have stayed at home.

The Dragon Lady and a troupe of Chinese entertainers came out on a frontline outpost hill and staged a show for the marines a few hundred yards away.

The Dragon Lady has been making frontline broadcasts for months Marines have been hearing her regularly, singing Korean and Chinese songs and making propaganda broadcasts

She had never been seen by Allied troops, so when she appeared this morning in the open, broadcasting with a microphone from the small hill, marines dived for telescopes and field glasses

They saw a slight, moon-faced girl dressed in a very faded khaki uniform She wore a slouch cap pulled down over her long straight black hair

Her shoes were the regulation canvas and rubber shoes worn by ordinary soldiers If she had any glamor the marines couldn't see it The Chinese put on an oriental road show for the marines

A couple of Chinese started waving long red and yellow banners and the band struck up something or other

Then the Dragon Lady began to sing.

The marines have another name for her but use the term Dragon Lady in polite society.

"That bag is ugly," said Pfc Tommy Williams as he peered through a telescope A line of men waited their turns at the telescope

The Dragon Lady appeared to be about 21 years old She was hardly 5 feet tall and her figure remained a mystery beneath her shapeless uniform

She sang several Korean and Chinese songs in a soft, pleasant voice

It wasn't much of a show but they admitted it was highly unusual and the only entertainment they had at the time

Parks Plan To Council

City Council members were scheduled to receive a draft of a proposed ordinance suggesting combining of parks and recreation under one superintendent and one board of seven members.

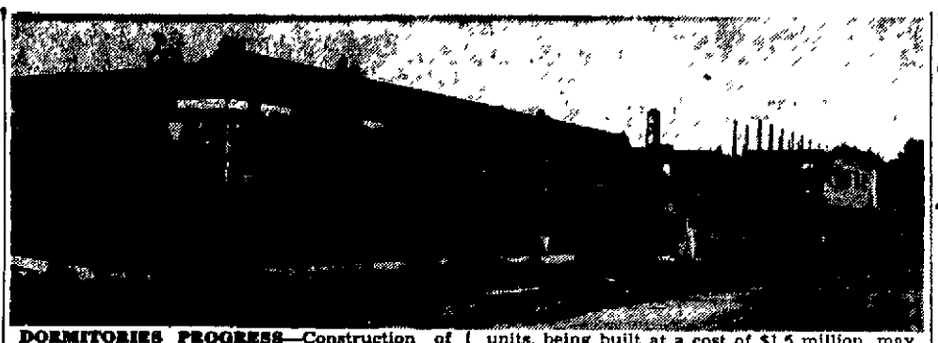

Leo Beck Jr., Junior Chamber of Commerce committee chairman, and attorney representation for the Chamber of Commerce, were to confer informally with the Council about the parks and recreation phase of the budget.

Under the plan proposed in the draft, board members would be appointed by the Council, with approval of the Board of Education.

Beck said the plan should be in the interest of economy, both from the standpoint of personnel and equipment.

He added that it is believed more efficient planning would result.

The Senior Chamber of Commerce is backing this proposal as well as the Junior body.

Mary Gordon

Neighbors Annoyed by Noisiness

Dear Mary Gordon We are a group of neighbors who need your help with a family who came from a farm They have no respect for the neighbors or city laws Isn't there some way we can tell them how to live in the city without involving the police?

We have all dropped hints but they don't take them Here is what they do

1 Get up at 5 a m and mow their lawn with a clattery mower

2 Bang doors at 5 a m

3 Holler at each other at the top of their lungs

4 Play their radio at 5 a m blaring loud

5 Have parties and yell 'Good night" when they leave till it raises the whole neighborhood out of our beds

6 They don't laugh—they scream at 1 and 2 a m at these parties

7 Race their car motor at 6 a m

8 Turn on yard lights to look at flowers at 2 a m when a party is on

9 Water their lawn any day they please

Guess they never heard of disturbing the peace

—Disgusted Neighbors

Answer Since the letter is signed by seven neighbors it must be caused by more than the infrequent noisiness that most close neighbors have to endure

Could you neighbors club together and hire a lawyer to warn the family that they are about to be complained about?

Or could a delegation get together and call on the older members of the family telling them that they probably don't realize it but everyone in the block is being disturbed and you would appreciate conformance to a more quiet code

If the family realizes that you are really sincere in not wanting to call in the police they should thank you for it

Mr and Mrs Richard Lee Berkheimer and their son, Richard Lee Jr, have moved to Lincoln from Chicago, Ill, where he was discharged from the Army The Berkheimers are not new to Lincoln for they graduated from the University of Nebraska, where Mrs Berkheimer was a member of Alpha Phi and he a member of AIO Mrs Berkheimer is the daughter of Dr and Mrs Leonard Cullins of Stanton (Journal Photo)

Woman Diplomat Made Own Mark

Lincoln Journal—Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

WASHINGTON—The nation's feminists can savor a full draught of satisfaction with Frances E Willis's nomination to be Ambassador to Switzerland

Only the third woman to represent America aboard as a full-fledged diplomat the Illinois-born Miss Willis made her way in the man's world of the United States Foreign Service

She is the first woman career officer to scale the plenipotentiary heights unlike Mrs Eugenie Anderson Ambassador to Denmark under President Truman and Mrs Claire Both Luce the new envoy to Rome both of whom were strictly political choices

The story is that Miss Willis when a political science professor at Vassar in 1927 was urged by feminist friends to invade the foreign service and establish a foothold in that trousered domain

She moved up through the ranks from one obscure post to another with wha her associates call a dedication to work that bronked few diversions en route

If there were prejudices against women in the service—and the evidence is that there were—Miss Willis took them in stride

On her first foreign assignment for example she was stationed at Valparaiso Chile The chief of mission in Santiago was annoyed at the feminine intrusion and when Miss Willis arrived no one was there to tell her what to do

In a short time however the political reports from her area were so incisive and knowledgeable that Latin American experts in Washington promptly marked her as a prize recruit

At Valparaiso Miss Willis learned a good deal about the man's world she had entered, according to accounts here

Much of her time at the consulate was spent in bailing out American seamen who came ashore to sample the Chilean port's attractions

With that introduction to service abroad Miss Willis climbed steadily thereafter moving to Santiago Stockholm Brussels Madrid Finland with intermittent tours of duty in the State Department here

She is a tall slender dark-haired woman of 54 summers The first thing that her colleagues mention about her is her serious minded devotion to work Junior foreign service officers who have served with her abroad remember her for her thoughtful concern for their problems and her many considerate acts

Miss Willis was born in Metropolis Ill but spent most of her young life in California, where her family resides She graduated from Stanford University and has a Ph D from the University of Brussels

City Budget Picture Brighter

Property Gain Is $4,894,343

Lincoln's budget picture took on a rosier hue through the state board's adjusted chart. As figured by Mayor Clark Jeary, who credits Lincoln with possession of 90 per cent of the county's business and personal property valuations, the city gains:

On business property	$4,207,200
On household property	687,047
Total	$4,894,343

Adding Lincoln's share of automobile values, figured by him as $11,890,000, Jeary reaches a total, including $108,096,700 of real estate assessed by the city and independent of the county structure, of $148,076,404. This represents a deficit of $2,908,902 under the 1952 figure of $150,985,306. Real estate, on the city side, shows an increase of $6 million to $108,096,700.

* * *

JEARY DECLINED to discuss the levy in view of the fact that budget studies are in progress with no decisions yet reached. Asked whether the deficit means a probable increase in the all purpose 12.3 mill levy of last year, he replied:

"Any estimate would be premature at this time. We haven't the railroad or franchise values. We haven't determined to a certainty what our fund balances should be at the close of this fiscal year or estimated, fiscally, departmental receipts for the ensuing fiscal year. Nor have we reached a decision on important budget requests such as salary increases, new swimming pool and many other items."

* * *

JEARY HAD previously stated, before the state board made adjustments upward, that to raise the same amount of money for operation of the city's business as was raised last year might mean as much as a 14 mill levy. But that figure is now out.

"It would be out of place to discuss the mill levy until we have more accurate facts before us," he said. "We apparently are losing about $47,000 on intangibles. My estimate of 90 per cent as to business and household properties within the city, too, may be slightly off. It will be a few days before we can see the entire picture."

SUPPLIES FOR CAMP—Loading gasoline cans in preparation for the departure of the advance party to Camp McCoy, Wis. are C.W.O. Albert Schleiger (left) and Sgt. Donald Lahm, in the truck, of the Nebraska National Guard. Nebraska and Iowa guardsmen, members of the 45th (Red Bull) division, will go to Camp McCoy for a two-week summer camp. (Journal Photo.)

First Guard Group Leaves

Three officers and 15 enlisted men of the Quartermaster Company of the Nebraska National Guard left Lincoln Wednesday morning for Camp McCoy, Wis., to make preparations for the Guard camp to be held there next week.

The remainder of the Guardsmen were making preparations to make the trip to Camp McCoy on Friday and Sunday.

The Nebraska Guardsmen will go to the camp in three truck and train convoys.

The Lincoln, Seward, Crete and York convoy, under Lt. Col. Evar Peterson, will form at the Lincoln Air Base Sunday morning and leave at 8 a.m.

The "advance group" that left Wednesday morning was to have 48 hours to sign for barracks, check training areas, set up ration breakdowns, and perform other duties to put the camp in order for the Guardsmen.

Training emphasis this year is to be on small unit tactics, stressing the role of the individual soldier, the squad, platoon and company.

Luncheon Honors Wayne O. Reed

County Superintendents from 40 Nebraska counties honored Wayne O. Reed, assistant commissioner of the U.S. Office of Education, at a luncheon in the Student Union of the University of Nebraska Wednesday.

Dr. Reed, a former Nebraska State Superintendent of Public Instruction, is lecturing at the County Superintendents' Summer Institute. Dr. Rosalie Farley is head of the two-week institute.

Assault Cases Fines Assessed

In two separate assault cases in Lancaster County Court, both defendants pleaded guilty and were fined $25 each and costs.

Lois Ingram of 950 Furnas pleaded guilty to the assault of a 13-year-old girl.

Floyd Campbell, 36, of 921 No. 39th, pleaded guilty to the assault of Jack B. Mayson of 1734 So. 17th.

Lincolnite May Keep GI Overpayment

A Lincoln man probably will not have to return $966.84 to the U.S. Government that he had been overpaid while in the service in Korea.

The House of Representatives has passed legislation in favor of Don B. Whelen of 3855 Orchard who had been informed that he owned Uncle Sam the amount of money he was overpaid while serving as insect and rodent control officer with the U.S. Army in 1946 and 1947.

Under terms of a previous understanding with Army officials, Whelen had received the highest pay rate for his grade.

However, in 1951, he was informed by the Comptroller General of the United States that he owed the Treasury $966.84, since he should have been getting the low pay rate for his grade.

Three Nebraskans Due From Far East

SEATTLE 4?—The Navy transport, Gen. W. O. Darby, due to arrive Wednesday at the port of embarkation here, is carrying 859 passengers from the Far East, among them three Nebraska men.

The Nebraskans are Capt. Jack M. Clark of Grand Island and Cpl. Cleveland S. Marshall and Cpl. Frederick D. Williams, both of Omaha.

Air Base to Get 12-Inch Pipe Line

A 12-inch water supply line is to be constructed to serve the new Air Base terminal area and the U.S. Naval Air Station.

Bids were received at the City Hall with H. R. Bookstrom Construction Co. submitting the low quotation, $25,550. This is $450 under the $26,000 estimate. Chambers Construction Co. and Abel - Dobson - Robinson, three firms bidding jointly, submitted the estimate.

The main will hook into the original 16-inch line to the Air Base at a point along the county road leading to the terminal site, west of the railroad.

Only one bid, that of the Commonwealth Electric Co., $3,740, was received on ornamental light construction in District 28; Bryson, 48th to Valley; Hill, 47th to Valley; and 47th, Valley to Hill. The cost estimate, $3,500.

C of C Tax Study Group Formed

With sights set on "further correction of tax inequalities," representatives of seven Nebraska Chambers of Commerce will make Grand Island the focal point for future discussions of their study group.

Arch Jarrell of Grand Island was named temporary chairman and John Meehan of Beatrice temporary secretary of a committee headed toward the future study of the state's tax situation.

Other committee members:
Ray Thompson, Hastings.
F. W. Lakers, Columbus.
Carl Aller, Beatrice.
Henry Kosman, Scottsbluff.
Harris Osterbers, Norfolk.
James Harrison, Fremont.

At a meeting held in the governor's hearing room, followed by luncheon, the group heard C. W. Motter, Fremont Chamber of Commerce secretary, assert: "Less spending of tax money is the answer to lower taxes."

Motter reviewed mechanics of an effort to reduce taxes in Fremont and Dodge County—an effort that may furnish a pattern for the new group, spokesmen said.

The steering committee's discussions, at a future meeting in Grand Island, its precise date not determined, may review such matters as sales tax discussion in Nebraska, and the relation of tax loads resulting from assessments on real and personal property.

182 Pints of Blood Given

Lancaster County residents donated 182 pints of blood—18 pints short of a 200 goal—when the Bloodmobile visited Lincoln Tuesday.

A total of 233 persons appeared at the Cornhusker Hotel to make donations, but 50 were rejected, according to Harold Hill of the Lancaster County Red Cross chapter.

The Bloodmobile also made trips to the State Reformatory where it collected 137 pints Monday and 182 Tuesday.

Hill said this was the second trip the Bloodmobile has made to the Reformatory. In February 139 pints were donated, he said.

The Bloodmobile's next visit to Lincoln will be Aug. 25.

Water Diversion Damages Claimed

Damage of $843.75, allegedly caused by diversion of water from the defendants' property to theirs', is asked by Mr. and Mrs. Carl M. Green of 3201 So. 14th in a suit against Mr. and Mrs. Rolla E. Ackerman of 3301 So. 14th.

The complaint alleges that defendants divert water from their land, upon which is built a track for training and exercising horses, onto the land of the plaintiffs.

The Greens ask the damages, plus an injunction:

1. Restraining the Ackermans from diverting further water.
2. Ordering the Ackermans to resurface the land to prevent further diversion.

LINCOLN 1, NEB., WEDNESDAY, JULY 29, 1953—P.M.

Midget Baseballers In All-Star Classic

Big time baseball performed by some potential big league players is on tap at Sherman Field tonight.

It's time for the annual Midget Baseball All-Star games at the Capital City's professional ball diamond and plenty of action is promised.

Both "A" and "B" league tilts are slated. The "B" game starts at 6:30 p.m. and the "A" contest at 8 p.m.

● ● ●

MIDGET Commissioner Ken Greenwood expects a pair of close contests.

"The voting for the All-Star positions was quite close: There is a considerable amount of talent on all four teams. This year's contests should be tops," said Greenwood.

Everything will be "big league" tonight.

The public address system will be in operation, concession stands will be manned and top-notch umpires on hand to pass out decisions.

Tonight's games may uncover a future Bobby Shantz or Nellie Fox, two illustrious graduates of Lincoln's Western League teams.

Whether it does or not, the fans will be assured of plenty of spirit, a ton of try and lots of action.

That adds up to an evening of classy baseball entertainment.

Egos Deflated As Hoag Rated

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Miss Marian Brown of Oak Park, Ill., the All-Star queen of 1953, deflated a number of college football heroes in a little speech at the collegians' training camp Tuesday.

"The greatest football player in the country is Chuck Hoag of Kansas," said the pretty 20-year-old Marian.

The Kansas ace was a star senior at Oak Park High School when Marian was a freshman there.

State Fish Stocking Is Heavy

Stocking of game fish in Nebraska waters in 1953 approached the 1½ million mark, according to the June stocking record released by Glen R. Foster, supervisor of fisheries for the Nebraska Game Commission.

"To date this year," Foster said, "almost 400,000 trout, consisting of rainbows, browns and brooks, and more than one million warm water have been released in the state." The warm water species are comprised of bass, crappie, bluegill, perch, catfish, walleye, bullheads and northern pike.

Following are the different waters stocked with trout:

Plum Cr. (Johnstown), Fairfield Cr. (Johnstown), Long Pine Cr. (Long Pine), Goose Cr. (Valentine), Schlagel Cr. (Valentine), North Loup R. (Mullen), Snake R. (Gordon), Squaw Cr. (Crawford), Chadron reservoir (Chadron), Big Bordeaux Cr. (Chadron), Little Bordeaux Cr. (Chadron), Chadron Cr. (Chadron), Blue Sandy Cr. (Stuart), Eagle Cr. (Atkinson), Steel Cr. Warm water fish were released in:

Max Quick Hurls 3-Hitter for Win

KEARNEY—Behind the three hit pitching of Max Quick, North Platte rolled to a 9-0 victory over Kearney in a Nebraska Independent League game here Tuesday night.

North Platte scored in the first inning when Jerry Dunn hit a homer with one man on. Johnny Mathis homered for North Platte in the ninth with one man aboard.

Mathis was the leading hitter for North Platte with two for four.

Broken Bow Duo Makes Top Catch

Two Broken Bow residents shared fishing honors during the past week on the basis of angling achievements reported to the Nebraska Game Commission.

Ralph Kensell caught a 23-pound channel catfish while another Broken Bow resident, Dr. B. B. Crable, took a 5-pound, 4-ounce smallmouth bass.

Two other top catches were reported. Al Wagner of North Platte hauled in a 9-pound, 2-ounce walleye from Lake Maloney. The same lake produced an 8-pound walleye for Francis Gilan of McCook.

NY's Casey 'Not Conceding Anything'

Reynolds Sparkles As Yanks Win, 4-2

NEW YORK (UP)—Yankee Manager Casey Stengel surveyed the American League pennant race cautiouosly Wednesday as if he needed a shave and Boss Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians was the barber.

"They'll cut your neck off if you aren't careful," he said. "They had me scared plenty and maybe I'm still scared.

"Sure we won a tough one but look at 'em. They've got Bob Lemon and Mike Garcia to go at us next and the rest of the clubs are all bearing down. I thought maybe we were in good shape when we won 18 in a row and what happens—we wind up in all kinds of trouble. No sir, I'm not conceding anything. But did you see how that Allie Reynolds was pitchin' out there?

That was the key remark. Stengel could talk like a man sitting in the electric chair just waiting for the juice to be turned on but the act falls flat when he begins talking about his great reliever.

● ● ●

REYNOLDS came in Tuesday night and cut off Cleveland brilliantly in the clutch as the Yankees scored a 4-2 victory on the margin of early inning home runs by Gil McDougald and Joe Collins to stay 5½ games ahead of the second place White Sox.

Milkman Jim Turner, the Yankee pitching coach, made the most significant observation when he said that Reynolds had better stuff than "at any time in the last three months."

"He was fast and he was clever," Turner said. "He really foiled those Cleveland batters in the clutch."

It marked the 26th straight time that Reynolds had relieved in a game without being charged with the defeat.

The White Sox stuck by in second by topping Boston, 4-2, as Sam Mele and Minnie Minoso hit homers, then collaborated in producing a key run. Mele drove in three tallies to give Harry Dorish his ninth victory with relief help from Sandy Consuegra. The Athletics topped the Browns, 9-7, as Ray Murray hit a two-run homer in the eighth inning for the winning margin, and Detroit took a firmer hold on seventh place by defeating Washington 8-5. Ted Gray gained credit for his sixth victory, although he needed help in the late innings.

● ● ●

IN THE National League, Brooklyn stayed seven full games in front by defeating Chicago, 13-2, with a 15-hit attack as Duke Snider, Gil Hodges and Carl Furillo each hit two-run homers, and lefty rookie Johnny Podres turned in a four-hitter for his seventh victory.

Milwaukee topped the Giants for the second straight game, 2-0, as Bob Buhl pitched a six-hit shutout to follow up the 13-0 blanking job by Warren Spahn of the night before. The Braves scored both of their runs off rookie Allan Worthington, who gave up only three hits, in a third inning rally in which a walk with the bases loaded forced in one man and a long fly by Andy Pafko brought in the other.

Cincinnati defeated Philadelphia, 5-4, as Harry Perkowski won his ninth game and his fourth in a row. He was touched for four runs in the eighth but stuck it out to gain the decision as Ted Kluszewski drove in three Cincy runs earlier with a double and two-run single.

Ray Jablonski drove in three runs with a pair of singles as the Cards topped Pittsburgh, 6-4, and lefty Cliff Chambers won his second game with relief help from little Joe Presko. Frank Thomas hit a Pirate homer.

SCARBOROUGH, England (AP)—Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, who once ruled the amateur tennis world, are giving their fellow professionals a dose of the same medicine these days.

Sedgman and McGregor won the doubles final of a pro tournament here Tuesday by defeating Fred Perry and Bill Moss 6-1, 6-3. It took them only 25 minutes.

Williams Arrives 'Home', Signs '53, '54 Pact; Pay Not Disclosed

BOSTON (AP)—Ted Williams arrived at the scene of many of his glorious baseball moments Wednesday and within a few minutes had signed a contract to play for the Boston Red Sox the remainder of the 1953 season and the 1954 campaign.

The famous American League slugger drove up from New York alone and arrived at Fenway Park at noon, about 27 bousr after he was released in Washington from active duty as captain in the Marine Corps air service.

His pay, as usual, was not disclosed.

"That's a military secret," grinned happy Joe Cronin, Sox general manager.

● ● ●

THE SIGNING took less than five minutes as Williams huddled with Cronin and beaming Tom Yawkey, wealthy owner of the Boston club which currently is in third place on the American League.

Williams, talking in most friendly fashion with a score of baseball writers, radio men, and photographers, said he didn't plan to be in uniform Wednesday.

"After all," he said, "they've won 10 of their last 13, haven't they? Why disrupt them?"

He said he'd work out after Wednesday's Red Sox-White Sox game.

Ted planned to watch the game in the company of Yawkey and Cronin.

"I feel I'm going to be stiff," he said.

"I haven't had a bat in my hands but once since I left here in May, 1952. And I've run only once.

● ● ●

"IT MAY take me three weeks before I feel good and maybe only 10 days.

"I don't know how my legs are and I haven't any blisters on my hands but that'll change quickly," he grinned, as he went through the motions of swinging a bat.

"I don't feel a day older than when I first came here (1939). But a few minutes ago I picked up a bat and it felt heavy. Then they told me it was a 33-ouncer, the weight I use."

Williams, who flew 39 combat missions in Korea, was released from active duty because of an ear ailment.

"The Marines were going to give me radium treatments/" he said, "but because I got released they decided not to. The medics also discovered I have an allergy to dust and ragweed. I often wondered why I had colds in the spring and fall. I guess that was why."

Williams would make no predictions about his future in baseball but cracked, "I know all the pitchers in the league."

Best guesses as to the mighty batsman's salary were that he'd receive possibly $50,000 for the remainder of 1953 and perhaps $80,000 for 1954.

● ● ●

YAWKEY and Cronin want Williams to decide when and how he will return to the lineup. Williams is uncertain. And Manager Lou Boudreau hopes Ted will decide to play himself into condition.

"We don't expect Ted to jump right back into the lineup," Cronin said as Yawkey nodded agreement. "He sets such a high standard for himself that I'm sure he will be patient enough to wait until he is physically ready."

Cronin, recalling Hank Greenberg's return to the Detroit Tigers after getting out of the Army in 1945, also at 34, estimated that it would be about two weeks before Williams would be in shape for even pinch-hitting.

"It's up to Ted to decide for himself," Boudreau said. "If he's willing, we want him back immediately. I'd like to have him play himself into shape."

Finals Net Spot To Lincoln Lad

Young Neil Unterseher of Lincoln teamed with Millie Michelson of Omaha to gain a finals spot in junior mixed doubles state tennis competition.

Unterscher and Miss Michelson defeated Kay Talty and John Ringwald Jr., both of Omaha, 6-3, 7-9, 6-0, in a semifinal match Tuesday at the Lincoln Tennis Club.

Meanwhile, Lincoln's Jim Porter won the top singles match Tuesday.

He defeated a veteran net campaigner from Omaha, Jack Ringwalt, 6-0, 10-8.

In the junior girls singles division Millie Michelson of Omaha, seeded first, downed Lincoln's Jackie Loudon in two close sets, 7-5, 6-4.

The only other two matches on Tuesday's slate were in the mixed doubles division. In one match Lincoln's Emily Schossberger and Porter teamed to defeat Lelia Bailey and Ray Abernathy, also of Lincoln, 6-1, 6-4.

Ruth Benzing and the Rev. S. Siegenski of Lincoln defeated Carol French and Frank Redman of Lincoln 2-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Wednesday program features Lou Gerdes and Steve Broadie of Omaha taking on Irv Simos and Carl Wear of Lincoln in the men's doubles division. After that 4 p.m. match is completed the winner will play Bob Radin and the Rev. Siegenski.

Broken Arm No Reason to Quit

Gay Prai, centerfielder for the Jaycee team in the AA City Softball League, got the wrong end of the breaks in a tilt Tuesday night.

Prai collided with Merrill Rose, Jaycee second baseman, while chasing a fly ball in the early innings of a game against Pleez U Cleaner team.

He suffered a broken left arm in the mishap. However, the Jaycees had only nine players and Prai continued in the game for several innings until a replacement arrived.

He did all right, too, despite his injury. Prai got a bunt single although swinging with only his right arm.

Branch Rickey, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, describes first baseman Preston Ward as "the key man" in the deal which sent Ralph Kiner to the Chicago Cubs.

Braves' Rental Contract Okayed

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee County Board Tuesday approved a new five-year contract with the Milwaukee Braves for use of County Stadium—replacing the less profitable contract voluntarily torn up by the baseball club.

The new pact sets the rent at $25,000 annually this season and next. For the three following years, the county will get 5 per cent of the gross gate, less taxes and the visiting teams' share, plus 5 per cent of gross concession receipts at Braves games.

Johnson Back to Chisox

BOSTON (AP)—Connie Johnson, former Colorado Springs pitcher, has been recalled by the Chicago White Sox. He had been on option to Charleston, W. Va., of the American Association where he won six of 11 starts. Johnson, 29, hurled for Colorado Springs in 1952.

Situation Dark for Tribe--Lopez

NEW YORK (AP)—The hope that springs in Al Lopez's breast every year until the Yankees clinch the American League pennant was nurtured Wednesday by the possibilities of late-season comebacks by pitcher Art Houtteman and first baseman Luke Easter.

"They could carry us a long way," the manager of the Cleveland Indians said with a significant wink. "We've got a lot of ground to make up on the Yankees but bigger leads than they have were overcome in the past."

● ● ●

LOPEZ CONCEDED the situation looked dark for the Indians, who are scarcely within telescopic distance of the world champions, but he insisted that comebacks by Houtteman and Easter could supply the necessary impetus to bring the Indians down the stretch in a closing rush.

"I haven't given up on Houtteman by a long shot," Lopez said a bit defiantly. "He's helped us in two ways. He's our fourth starting pitcher and he's also helped by enabling us to give Bob Feller an extra day or two of rest between starts."

Houtteman, who came to the Indians in their big deal with the Detroit Tigers last June, has been scarcely less than a ball of fire. He's won only two games while losing six for the Indians and he's pitched only four complete games in eight starts.

But Lopez believes the powerful right hander can recapture the form which made him a 19-game winner for the Tigers in 1950 and make Cleveland's famous Big Three an even more famous Big Four.

Lopez, no alibi artist, shook his head as he recalled Easter's hard luck and suggested that it was about time the 240-pound first-sacker "got a few breaks."

EASTER, key man in the Indians' attack, suffered a broken bone in his left foot when struck by a pitched ball in the fourth game of the season on April 18 and was sidelined for the first two and a half months of the campaign.

Since his return to action, Easter has been hitting at a consistent .300 pace but has hit only one home run and knocked in 13 runs in 34 games.

"He's been hitting on one leg," Lopez said sadly.

Lopez pointed out that Easter, one of the most feared sluggers in the league, also is one of the hardluck players of the circuit.

"He had an awful time last year, too," he recalled. "He was hitting about .200 on July 1 and then spurted toward the end of the season. A healthy Easter, slugging like he can, could have been the difference in one or two of the last four pennant races."

As for Feller, the one-time fireballer, Lopez felt the Indians "will get important use" for three more years.

"He's got that many more years," Lopez said. "He's one of the best conditioned athletes in the league and can win with the proper rest. And now that Houtteman's with us, Feller will get it."

Chiefs Bow to Omaha in Doubleheader

I May Be Wrong

By Walt Dobbins
Journal Sports Editor

"Red" Jones, a former American League umpire and now a telecaster, and Hank Greenberg, one of baseball's greatest hitters in his day and currently an executive of the Cleveland club were having a session the other day.

The subject: The great Bobo Newsom.

"I always liked the guy," Greenberg declared. "In fact he bumped me for a job a few years back but Lou Boudreau didn't want him. He had played with every club in the league but Cleveland and the White Sox and wanted to make 'em all before he hung up his glove.

"One time Bobo fanned me four straight times. But to hear that character tell it you would think he did it every game," Hank added. "He told me if I ever hit a home run off him he'd be at the plate to shake my mitt and darned if he didn't."

At this point Jones got in his bit.

"I liked old Bobo, too, but Umpire Cal Hubbard didn't have much use for him," Jones declared. "I told Cal that I thought guys like Bobo helped the game but Hubbard only grunted.

"Then one day Lou Finney was at bat (Lincoln Chiefs' skipper) with a 3-2 count on him. Old Bobo reared back and cut loose. I had one of those lapses that sometimes hit an umpire. I waved with my right arm indicating that it was a strike but I called out loudly that it was a ball which would entitle Lou to first base.

"Both buys got on me but I finally decided that since Finney had hollered first and that since I really thought it should have been a ball, I waved Lou to first.

"Then Bobo really got on me. It was then that I saw Hubbard cupping his hands over by first.

"'Hey Red,' Cal yelled, 'tell me now about what a credit that pitching jerk is to the game.'

"But I still like the old bird and I'm always pulling for him when he gets a chance to relieve for the A's. He's quite a guy."

And I'd say that is putting it mildly. I made the rounds with Bobo, Joe Kuhel and Ralph Kress one time when the trio were with Washington and Mr. Newsom, to say the least, was the life of the party.

Special note to G.M.—Lincoln's second basemen in 1906 were Barton, Clarence Skeen and occasionally Ducky Holmes . . . Ex-Husker Bob Cerv is hitting .317 for the K. C. Blues . . . The story out of Washington recently concerning the complaint of Rep. O'Konski (R-Wis), an ardent Milwaukee Braves ronter, that the slump of his favorite team may be due to a strike in Milwaukee breweries, hit a familiar chord with Johnny Maher, general manager of the Lincoln Chiefs. . .

"I remember back about 1935," smiled Maher, "I was then secretary of the Pittsburgh pro football club. Owner Art Rooney also at the time operated a brewery. When we'd lose a few, the fans would claim the squad was training on Rooney's Old Irish Ale. . .

"And that's not all," continued Maher. "They also insisted that the players were always subject to heavy fines if caught drinking beer—unless it was Rooney's product."

Cards Cop Couple By 2-1 and 8-7

OMAHA (AP)—Those Omaha Cardinals and Lincoln Chiefs, famed for deciding their ball games by one-run margins, treated a seasonal record crowd of 3,790 to two of the same, with the Cardinals coming out on top in both. Hal Smith's single in the last of the eighth gave the Cards a 2-1 decision in the first game which had been scheduled to go only seven.

Relief pitching by Gerry Mertz steered Omaha to a victory in the nightcap, 8-7.

The closer was a slam-bang affair. Omaha put over three in the first inning and Lincoln duplicated in the next frame. The Cards went ahead, 7-4, in the third and stayed in front.

Some of the early Omaha runs were the result of bad playing by the Chiefs. But once the Cardinals had a lead they defended it with fine fielding.

Earl Weaver batted in four runs with three singles.

Fred Waters went the route for Lincoln after a shaky start. He gave nine hits while the Chiefs wound up with 10.

In the first game, Jim King started the winning rally with a double. King went to third when the relay throw was bobbled.

Lincoln gave Gene Faszholz an intentional walk before Smith came to bat. The Omaha catcher hit a ball over the left side of the infield despite his bruised finger.

Larry Jackson went the route for Omaha and allowed four hits. His only trouble came in the second inning when Moose Womack doubled and Jack Caro tripled for Lincoln's only threat.

No-Hitter Is Pitched by Karl Spooner

By the Associated Press

Southpaw Karl Spooner pitched a no-hit shutout for Pueblo over Denver in the Western League Tuesday night.

The Dodgers won the tilt, 2-0, to sweep a doubleheader at Pueblo. They copped the seven-inning opener, 7-5.

Denver's two losses cut the Bears' lead to a game and a half over Colorado Springs, which was idle. Rain washed out the Sky Sox game scheduled with Wichita. Pueblo now is only 5½ games off the pace.

Spooner's no-hitter was the second in the league this year, but the first in a full nine-inning game. Norman Bell twirled a seven-inning no-hit game for Lincoln against Des Moines on June 19.

Spooner, who sometimes is wild, whiffed 13 batters and walked only three. Two of the free tickets came in the ninth but he got the side out for his seventh victory against one defeat. He retired the first 20 batters.

49ers Plan To Accent Pass Game

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP)—Coach Buck Shaw has decided it's time to make his San Francisco 49ers a passing rather than a running football team.

"We win the statistics every year but little else," Shaw said of his squad, third placers in last year's National Football League. The 49ers won 7, lost 5.

"We've got to speed up our scoring, and it just strikes me we can do it with Y. A. Tittle in charge." Tittle takes over the quarterback chores relinquished by the 49ers veteran Frankie Albert.

Albert "retired" last year, but decided to play later for Calgary in the Canadian League.

• • •

ALBERT always was known for his elaborate ball handling, consequently the running game took preference. Tittle is known for his passing.

Shaw declared ball handling was more important in college ball than with the pros. "I've reversed my thinking," he said. "As between ball handling and the pass, I'll take passing."

This business of churning it out has got to go, although we can still keep the opposition 'honest' on defense with the running of Hugh McElhenny, Joe Perry and Pete Schabarum."

Shaw is counting on McElhenny, Gordon Soltau, the NFL's leading scorer last year, Billy Wilson and Rookie Harry Babcock to handle the receiving end of his new air offensive.

"That Jerky Gait of McElhenny's pulls those defensive men off balance," said Buck. "Soltau is tough to handle on hook passes and Wilson can go and get them.

"If what I've heard about Babcock (the 49ers' top draft choice) is the McCoy we've got all we need to make the pass No. 1 in our attack."

Chicago Welter Gets Suspended

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — New Jersey Athletic Commissioner Abe J. Greene Wednesday announced he has suspended Luther Rawlings, Chicago welterweight, for failing to fulfill a contract to box here last Monday.

Greene said Rawlings was scheduled to fight George Johnson of Trenton here Monday.

'Surplus' Officers Weeded Out

Army Cuts Europe Staff

By DAVID NICHOL
Lincoln Journal-Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

BONN, Germany — Without any fanfare and with no official announcements, the United States Army is understood to be weeding out the equivalent of more than a division of staff officers from its various headquarters in Europe.

Nichol

The figure is reported unofficially as "something more than 18,000."

Combat units for the most part are being left alone. Hardest hit will be such expanded headquarters as that at Heidelburg which is devoted primarily to administration and what the Army calls its "housekeeping."

The cuts will extend from France through Germany and Austria and to the port of Leghorn in Italy and the occupied zones of Trieste, it is understood. The bulk of the reduction will occur in Germany.

At the same time a sizable number of local, or "indegenous" employees, as the Army calls them, is also being dismissed. Protests about these dismissals have spilled over in some areas into the German press.

Economies will not be limited to the officers alone. Married staff officers normally are accompanied by their families who are supplied in turn with housing and such facilities as shopping centers.

Part of this is a dollar charge to U.S. taxpayers, but the major portion is supplied by the West German government and is included in the so-called "occupation budget."

Brewery Strike Ends

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Milwaukee's 76-day-old brewery strike ended Tuesday night with the announcement that strikers had voted by more than a 3-1 margin to accept a contract offer from the city's six breweries.

Spokesmen for some breweries said the settlement terms, which included a 20-cent hourly wage increase, would result in a beer price increase.

Island Reported 'Secret Weapon' Against MIGs

By AL KAFF

SEOUL (AP)—The Air Force has unveiled one of its secret weapons for destroying Communist built MIG-15's.

In a carefully worded interview, a Fifth Air Force spokesman revealed that radar equipment secretly set up on a tiny island off the northwest coast of Korea gave the first warning when MIGs flew south across the Yalu River.

"There are many things we can not reveal about the operation," the spokesman said, "but we can say that our air warning radar on the island usually gave the first alert of approaching MIGs."

* * *

THE RADAR operated on Chodo Island off the Haeju Peninsula, about 35 miles north of the 38th parallel.

Although the Air Force classified the operation "secret," the Communists obviously knew the Allies occupied the island since it was often heavily shelled from Red mainland guns.

"The Communists threw a lot of shells on the island while we were there," the spokesman said. "Our guys never got much sleep."

He revealed the radar operation in announcing that the Air Force started withdrawing its equipment and men from the island Tuesday in accordance with truce requirements.

GRILLED RADAR antennas sweeping the horizon from the low lying island immediately detected MIGs as they left their Manchurian sanctuary and flew into MIG Alley, the spokesman said.

Radios quickly relayed alert warnings to advanced Sabrejet bases and to American F-86's in the air. With Chodo radar pinpointing the MIGs, Sabres screamed north to meet them in supersonic air battles.

The Air Force spokesman said American Army defense units occupied the island to protect the vital radar gear but warned, "We cannot say anything about the island defense system."

* * *

AIRMEN AND soldiers stationed on the island received their food and mail by C-47 cargo planes flying along the coast within eyesight of Communist troops.

The supply planes skimmed less than 200 feet above the water to escape Red anti-aircraft artillery.

Besides serving as a radar warning point, Chodo Island also was the base for Allied air rescue operations.

Helicopters on Chodo snatched many Allied pilots from the Yellow Sea minutes after they had crashed and sometimes rescued airmen shot down over Chinese territory. Pilots of crippled Sabrejets often tried to maneuver their injured planes toward the Yellow Sea where they knew help awaited them from Chodo.

Highway Stretch Will Be Rebuilt

The 2½ miles of State Highway 78 just north of the intersection with U.S. 34 and Nebraska No. 2 are to be rebuilt, State Highway Field Division Engineer Edwin Olmstead said.

The work on this part of the Waco-Shelby highway is to be done by state employees and is scheduled to begin the first week in August. The last construction work on this highway, which Olmstead said was done to very low standards, was completed in 1933.

Olmstead estimates the cost of the improvement at $12,950 and hopes to have the work completed by Sept. 15.

Tractor 'Removal' Damages Appealed

William B. Carroll of 6643 Colby will appeal to Lancaster District Court a decision by County Judge Ralph W. Slocum ordering Carroll to pay $350 to Charles Olson, minor, represented by his father, Carl T. Olson, of Ceresco.

Carroll was released on $775 bond. Charges were dismissed against a brother, Robert J. Carroll, also of 6643 Colby.

The Olsons charged the Carrolls with 'carrying away" the Olsons' tractor and converting it to their own use to the damage of the plaintiff, in the alleged amount of $750.

Service Improved

WITH U.S. 45TH DIVISION, Korea (AP) — Pfc. Walter Puhl complained for a month and a half because he received no mail.

The 120th Engineer Combat sign painter from Wyandotte, Mich., quit griping this week. Fifty-two letters arrived one day. Most were from his wife, Delores. They averaged 10 pages each.

Lintz, an employee of Malone's Feed Mill, dropped his wallet containing $20 into a feed grinder. It came out ground up into feed.

Boat Speed Limit Guarded by Radar

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 Club	Pass	1 Heart	Pass
1 No Tr.	Pass	Pass	2 Hearts
Double	2 Spades	Pass	Pass
2 No Tr.	Pass	Pass	Pass

East naturally wanted to offer some competition at the score, so he properly passed over North's one heart but then came in at the two-level with a heart bid of his own, thus showing a real suit rather than a cue-bid.

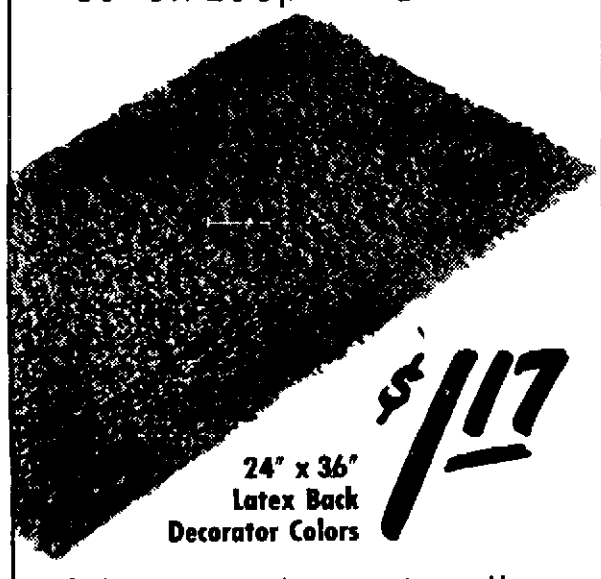

West opened his fourth-highest spade; East put up the ace and returned the spade nine. West took the second trick and continued with his lowest spade, and East automatically discarded a low heart.

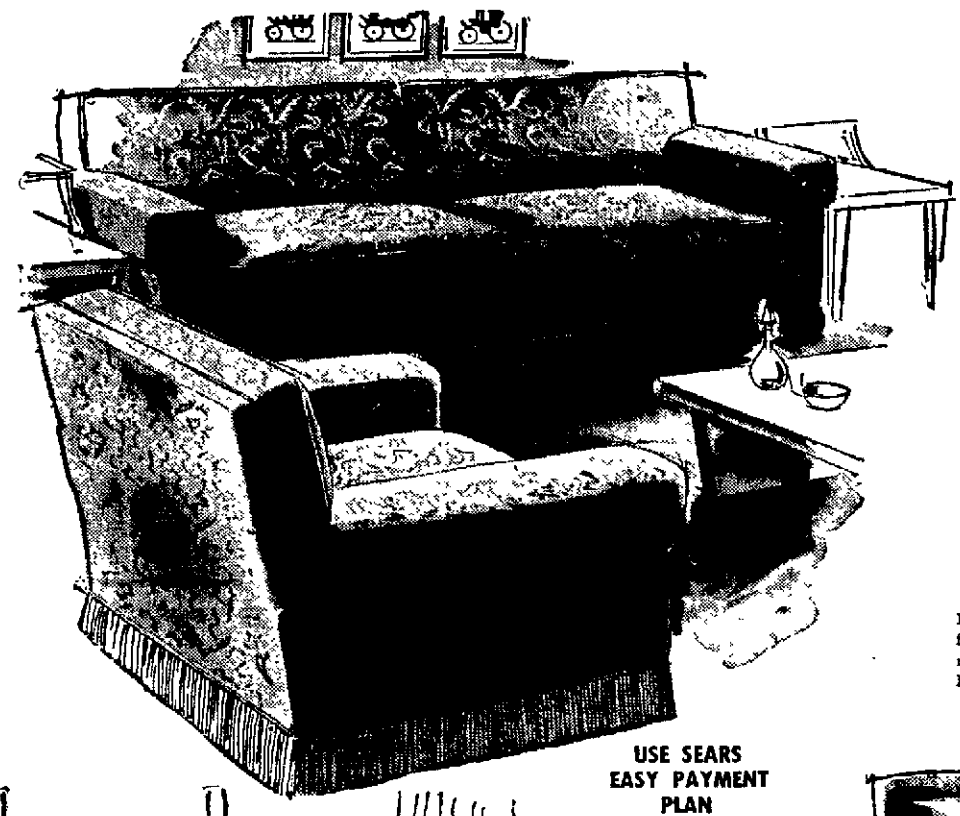

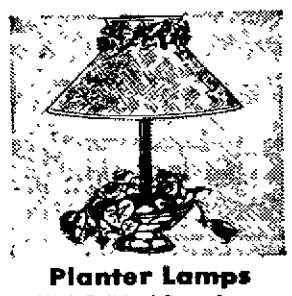

South, on winning the third trick, saw that he had a clear-cut problem—to keep West off lead. As the best way of solving that problem, South led the heart deuce to the ace and returned the club ten. East played low, and declarer put in the queen. Then, after some thought, declarer led a low club and East was in. That, in effect, was the end of the defense, since declarer could claim eight tricks even without risking the diamond finesse.

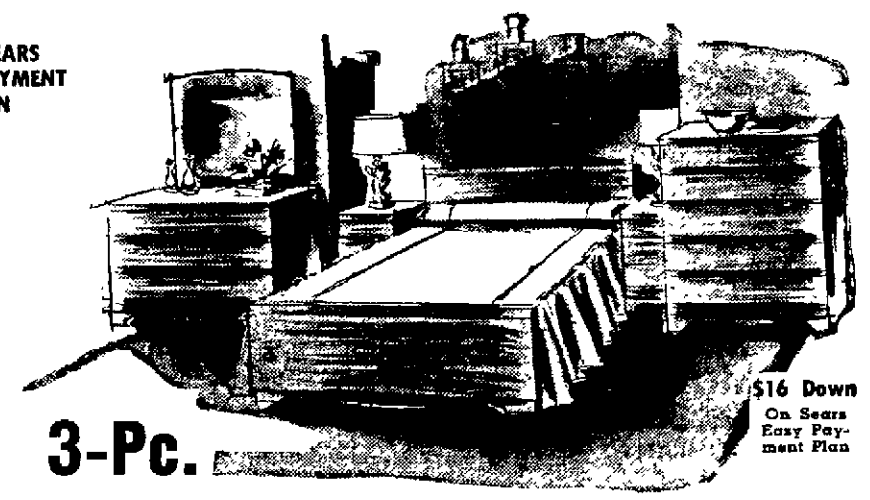

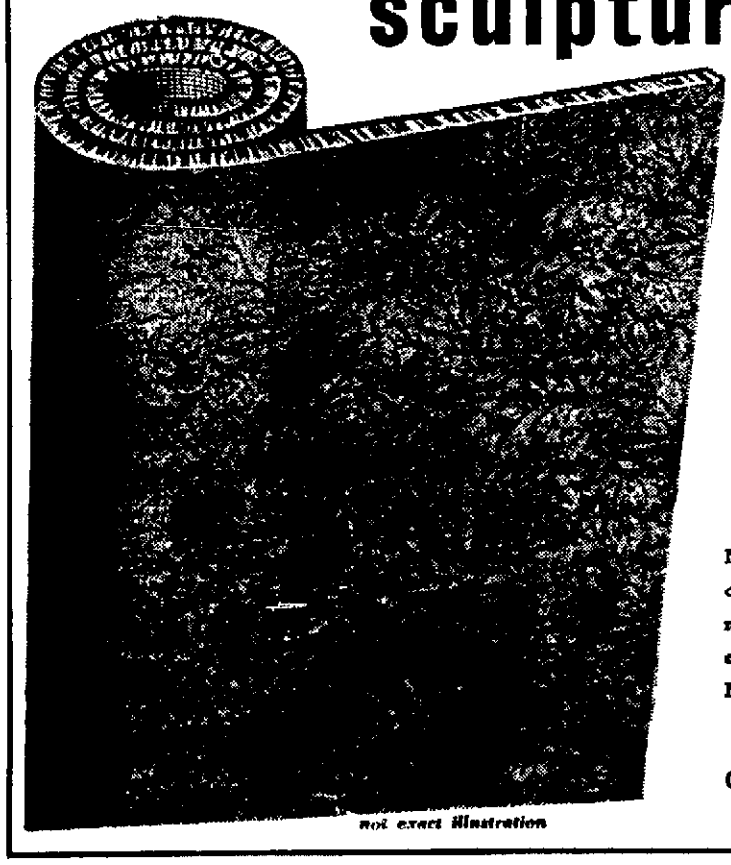

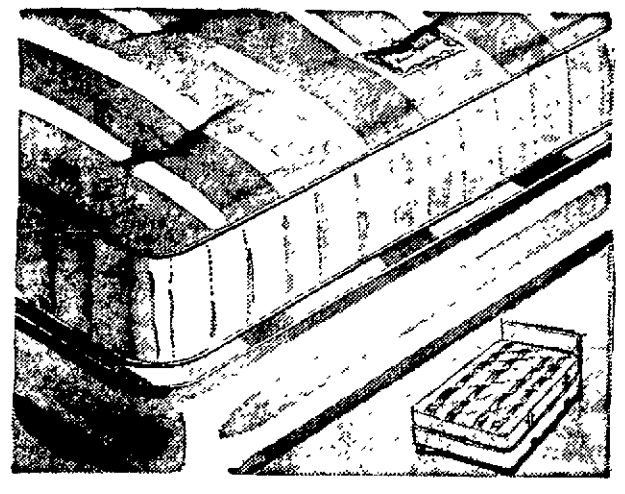

Now observe how an expert would operate in the East position. He would realize that his club king, far from constituting an asset, was a positive detriment to the defense—so he would be delighted to get rid of that king on the third round of spades. Why not? If South had the A-Q-J of clubs, the king would be worthless to East, and if West had the jack of clubs, the king in the East hand, if kept, would act as a blockade against West.

Just try to make eight tricks, dear reader, when East properly discards the club king on the third round of spades!

What Worldly Goods Should Grooms Have?

By GEORGE GALLUP
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—What worldly goods does the young bridegroom need today?

If he heeds the public advice—from the seasoned views of grandparents down to the best judgment of the youngest newlyweds—he should have about $1,000 in the bank and a life insurance policy before he reaches the altar.

On top of that, he should be earning at least $65 a week before he gets married.

Also sizable groups think he should have enough for a down payment on a home, an ample wardrobe and furniture. And one in every 10 think a prospective bridegroom should have an automobile.

Adults interviewed in the survey were given a list of five things often mentioned as necessary items for a young bridegroom to have and were asked to name the ones they thought a husband-to-be should own to insure a good start in marriage. The response:

	Total	Men	Women
Life insurance	55%	50%	59%
Home down payment	49	50	49
Clothing	31	32	31
Furniture	20	20	19
Automobile	12	12	10
All of them	4	5	4
Don't know	1	1	1
None of these	2	2	2
	173%	172%	175%

The tables add to more than 100 per cent because many people named more than one thing.

* * *

AN INDICATION of the cash reserve which the average American expects a young man to have before getting married is shown in the replies to the second question in the poll.

"What is the least amount of money a young man should have in the bank before he gets married?"

	Total	Men	Women
Less than $150	4%	3%	4%
$150 to $299	6	6	7
$300 to $749	20	19	21
$750 to $1,499	25	22	27
$1,500 to $2,499	17	16	11
$2,500 or more	11	12	10
Nothing	9	10	8
Other	1	1	1
Don't know	11	11	11
	100%	100%	100%

The median average sum named was $1,000.

* * *

THE THIRD question asked how much money a young man should be earning each week to insure a good start in marriage.

"And how much do you think he should be earning a week before he gets married?"

The median average weekly amount named was $65.

Here are the median average figures thought necessary by people in major occupation groups:

	Weekly Salary Needed
Prof. & Bus.	$70
White Collar	$68
Manual Workers	$61
Farmers	$53

Chamber Group Topic Is Taxes

Chamber of Commerce representatives from several Nebraska cities met here to discuss the tax situation. The call was issued by the Beatrice Chamber whose executive vice president, John Meehan, said the meeting was "exploratory."

"We don't know what, if anything, will come out of it. But we do feel that there are inequities in the share of the tax load being borne by different classes of property, even after equalization," he commented.

The meeting held in the governor's hearing room, was followed by luncheon.

With the drop in personal property assessments this year including motor vehicles a heavier burden will fall on real estate. Meehan said. He predicted personal property might carry only 25 per cent of the load.

Cities represented included:

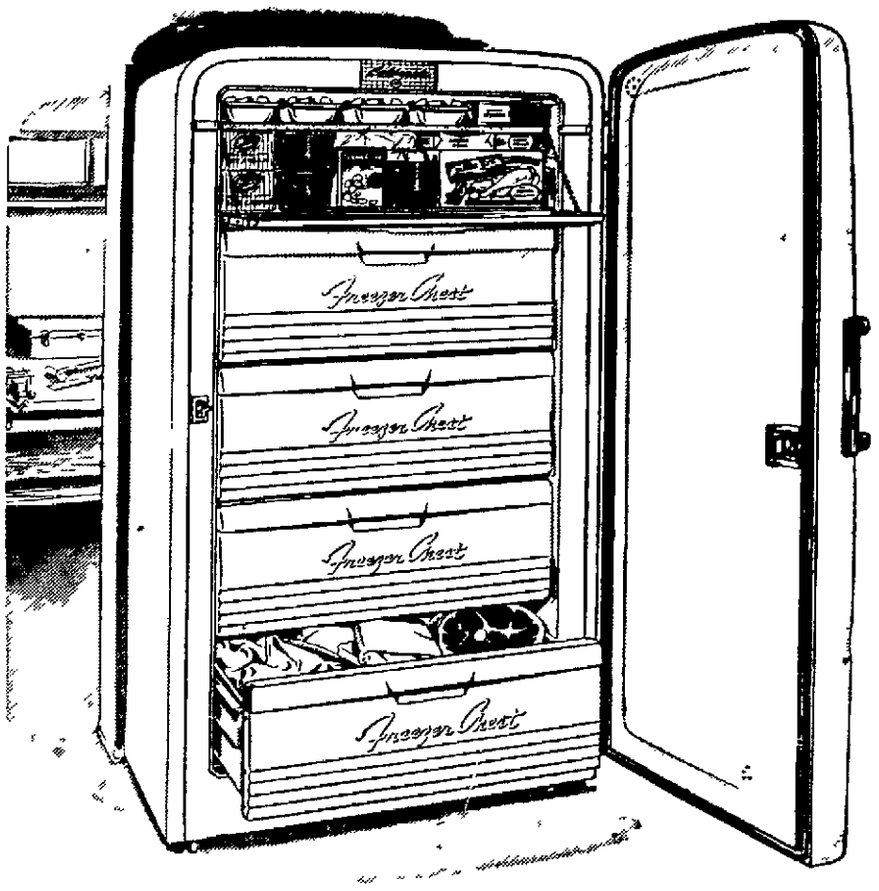

Hastings, Scottsbluff, Grand Island, Columbus, Fremont, Norfolk, Beatrice.

Senate Passes Refugee Bill

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Eisenhower Forces Notch Major Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Wednesday passed legislation to admit 209,000 refugees to the United States in the next three years, giving President Eisenhower a major victory on a hotly disputed issue.

The 63-30 vote climaxed a long and bitter controversy that once threatened plans for adjournment of Congress by the end of the week.

The compromise measure falls short of Eisenhower's original request, submitted last April 22, for opening the United States to 240,000 Iron Curtain refugees and other special immigrants in the next two years.

* * *

THE HOUSE Tuesday night passed a companion bill under which 217,000 refugees and other non-quota immigrants would be admissible to this country in the next three years.

The differences between the House and Senate measures will have to be reconciled before the legislation can be sent to Eisenhower for his signature.

The closest squeak for the administration in the Senate came on an effort to change the bill, and the administration won 49-40.

The vote rejected an amendment by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) which would have authorized the President to halt all admission of immigrants under the legislation unless he found other nations were accepting their fair share of refugees.

JENNER, who opposes the bill, argued there is "no way in the world" to screen out all Communist agents from the refugees who would be admitted to this country by the legislature.

Jenner also said the legislation discriminated against the "yellow-skinned and brown-skinned" peoples of the world and shouted, "This bill will make other people hate and despise us."

Under both House and Senate bills, the great bulk of refugees would come from Europe—persons who have escaped or have been expelled from behind the Iron Curtain and refugees in Italy, Greece and the Netherlands.

Chadron Set For Youth Camp

More than 150 Rural Youth members from all parts of Nebraska are expected to attend the Rural Youth State Camp in Chadron State Park, July 31 through August 2.

Frank J. Sibert, assistant state rural youth leader, said that about 25 counties in the state would have delegations at the camp.

The camp program includes special interest sessions, handicrafts, sports, hikes, tours, inspirational services, and parties.

A highlight of the camp will be a bus tour to the Black Hills and Mt. Rushmore on Saturday. Saturday night, the new state rural youth officers will be installed Sunday morning, a worship service will be held in the Pine Bowl at the park. Most of the camp activities are under the direction of delegations from different counties.

Harvest Nears Close In West

By The Associated Press

As the harvest draws to a close, Cheyenne County growers were being urged to set aside samples for entry in the 1953 county wheat show, held in conjunction with the county fair

The show will be sponsored by the Farmers Union with Russell Olson serving as superintendent and Bob Rexroth as his assistant

Samples entered in the county show will automatically be entered in the Nebraska wheat show which will be held at Chadron next November

In Box Butte County, harvesting is nearing a climax However, some fields are still green and not expected to be ready for cutting for another few days

County Agent John F Decker has revised his Box Butte County average upwards and predicted the crop will run 27 to 29 bushels per acre.

Decker described the crop as "surprisingly good" in view of unfavorable conditions from planting time to spring rains in last April He attributed the improvement to timely rains which were steady and heaviest during June when heads were filling

The 1953 crop would range second only to that of 1946 when the county average was 29 4 bushels per acre

Elevators in the area are filled, but they were accepting incoming grain to Eastern Nebraska terminals

There have been several reports of 35 to 45 bushel an acre yields in the Chadron area and one farmer reported a 55 bushel output

'Dead' Senator Is Grateful For Tribute

FAIRBURY (AP)—Former State Sen Franklin Stewart Wells' name was on the list of deceased state senators honored in a resolution approved by the recent 1953 Legislature

But the 89-year-old Fairbury man wrote to Legislative Clerk Hugo Srb at Lincoln that although he appreciated the kind words said about him, he is very much alive He told Srb he felt much like Mark Twain under similar circumstances when he said 'Reports of my death are greatly exaggerated"

Wells said the memorial resolution had been sent to his wife He said his wife has been dead 10 years

Wells served 10 years in the lower house of the old bicameral legislature in Nebraska, from 1923-33

It is the practice of each session of the Legislature to honor former senators who have died by including their name on a memorial resolution which is then approved by the unicameral legislature

McConaughy Water Level Going Down

OGALLALA (AP) — The water level in Lake McConaughy is being lowered at the rate of 4,000 cubic feet per second

Its level last Saturday was down 12 feet from capacity due to heavy irrigation demands The needs of the central Nebraska (Tri-County) Public Power and Irrigation district have reduced the reservoir's water supply to 1,587,000 feet McConaughy stores 2,000,000 acre feet

Resident Engineer Bernard Donelan reported the water level is the lowest in the past three or four years He said enough water is being let out every 24 hours to cover 8,000 acres to a depth of one foot

Donelan estimated water flowing down the North Platte River is coming into the reservoir at the rate of about 400 to 500 cubic feet per second He predicted the lake level could continue to recede for another 60 days if the weather is dry

The reservoir removal Saturday was 3,258 feet compared to 3,270 feet at capacity At the outlet tower, the depth measured 128 feet compared to a capacity reading of 140 feet

The Tri-County District Tuesday agreed to supply the Platte Valley District with water until the Platte district has fulfilled its contracts with irrigators

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

BY ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D Sc.

1. Yes When two persons plan to marry, their wedding is the business of the whole community, even the nation Numerous studies and the reports of marriage counselors, social workers, psychologists, psychiatrists and doctors, show that unhappy marriages require the larger part of all welfare dollars, both public and private Unhappy homes make delinquents neurotics, retarded and sick children Marriage is everybody's business

2 Yes, if intelligence good will and time are employed In 1950 a Chicago suburban mother ran an advertisement asking all parents interested in retarded children to contact her They met in a basement room of a public school Now they have their own school, with special teachers and many happy children, growing into useful, productive lives

3 No The only question should be 'Can you do the job?" As reported in a national magazine, Curt Joa, manufacturer, has a four-hour work day for older workers who cannot live on retirement incomes At a New Jersey watch-band factory one-fourth of the 600 workers are handicapped, although as the owner says 'we're not sure as we never asked whether they were handicapped" A new hope for us oldsters
